PLAN WELCOME FOR 12 SAVED FROM ICE CAP

Rescued Airmen To Stay on Greenland a Day, Then Leave for New York.

WASHINGTON Dec 29—(UP)—The Air Force today promised a hero's welcome in New York City for the 12 fliers rescued from a Greenland ice cap.

An Air Force spokesman said the men, who were snatched off the icy plateau yesterday by a ski equipped transport plane will be be given at least 24 hours of rest in Greenland before they are returned.

Some have families in Greenland and may not want to come to the United States, he said. But those who do will get an elaborate reception in New York and will meet the press in one of the city's large hotels to tell their story of life on an ice cap.

Seven of the airmen had been stranded on the 7,700 foot plateau since Dec 9 when their transport went down. Five others joined them during ensuing weeks as various rescue attempts failed.

Transport Succeeds

Yesterday however a C-47 transport equipped with skies in place of wheels and rockets to assist its takeoff, made a hazardous landing and removed the men. All were in good condition, having been dropped plenty of food and clothing and heaters for the crude ice huts.

The men were taken to a remote Air Force weather observation station called Blue West 8 before being flown to Blue West 1, a bigger base on the southern tip of Greenland. Families of some of the men live there.

The rescue plane was piloted by Lt. Col. Emil Beaudry of Manchester N. H., a much-decorated veteran of World War II. He carried out a similar daring rescue mission at Lake Astray, Labrador, a year ago, using the same plane. In two trips to the lake, he picked up nine survivors of a plane crash and then returned to pick up two bodies.

Yesterday's rescue was more than a sweet victory for the Air Force in a friendly but determined contest with the Navy for the honor of removing the stranded men from the ice cap. The Air Force success was announced as the Navy carrier Saipan, carrying five rescue helicopters was still 72 hours away from the west coast of Greenland. The flattop had left Norfolk, Va., Christmas day.

Exchange Thanks

Both services submerged their rivalry long enough to exchange glowing messages of thanks and congratulations.

Gen Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, thanked the Navy for dispatching the Saipan and a crew of 1,000 men to the aid of the marooned men.

Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations thanked Gen Vandenberg and said the Navy joined in the world-wide admiration of the rescue.

The Air Force also received congratulations from the Saipan's skipper, Capt. Joseph L. (Paddy) Kane.

"We would have liked to have done the job," he said in a radio message. "But it gives us far greater pleasure to hear that the men are safe."

U.S. CONCERNED WITH ARRESTS

Interprets Hungarian Seizure of Cardinal as Anti-Church Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Dec 29—(UP)—Reliable informants said today the United States is taking "an extremely serious view" of the arrest of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty by the Communist Hungarian government.

Diplomatic quarters interpreted the move as part of a general campaign against the Catholic church in eastern Europe. They said the campaign appeared approaching a climax both in Hungary and Poland.

The arrest of Mindszenty and 14 other leaders was the subject of top-level consultations within the State department yesterday. A Hungarian communique accused the Cardinal and the others of plotting to bring about the return of the Hapsburg monarchy to Hungary and of seeking western power aid to drive out the Communists.

Officials of the Communist-dominated regime also involved an American in the plot, which they hinted had United States backing. The American, identified only as "Mr. Fox," is said to be a representative of the National Catholic Welfare Council, reportedly returned to the U. S several months ago.

Involved with the primate officials said, were six priests a banker prominent royalists and one of Hungary's wealthiest landowners.

The government charges that the cardinal discussed the plot in the United States last year with Francis Cardinal Spellman and Otto, the Hapsburg Pretender, brought flat denials here. The communique claimed the meeting with Otto took place at a monastery near Chicago.

Catholic officials here professed no knowledge of such a meeting, and Otto's brother Archduke Felix, said "I am sure the report is not correct."

He said Otto was currently in Paris but would return to this country for a lecture tour late in January.

Rent Office Open 2 Days

Mounting Complaints Make Longer Hours Necessary, Director Says.

In order to handle a greatly increased number of complaints by tenants, the local rent control office at 106½ South Main street will be open an extra day each week starting the first of the year, it was announced today by Edward F. Wagner, of Columbus, area rent director.

The Marion office starting next week will be open Tuesday and Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. Previously it had been open only Tuesdays under the direction of local office manager Louis Hailey.

Mr. Wagner, who is supervisor for a nine-county area including Marion county indicated rent control offices have been busier the last three weeks than at any time since local offices were set up in the district.

Evidently there is beginning a widespread revolt against paying over-ceiling rent," he said.

"Our purpose in providing extra hours is to offer full facilities to bring about settlement of tenants' claims by negotiation, but if landlords refuse to respond and cooperate they will leave us no other choice than to turn the case over to our attorneys for litigation in federal court," he declared.

He reported tenants have been informing rent control officials that they fear eviction by retaliating landlords if their complaint is carried to the rent control administration.

"Any tenants threatened with eviction should report the incident to our office immediately," Wagner said, adding that the only grounds existing for eviction are those that are stated in the Rent Control Act.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK
About To Quit?

May Decide Crucial Issues

Future of Nationalist Rule at Stake; Chiang's Impending Resignation Rumored.

NANKING, Dec 29—From all corners of China today came Nationalist military leaders to talk war or peace with Chiang Kai-shek.

The aging president, urged by many to quit, called the conference. It probably will start tomorrow. On its decision may rest the future of Nationalist China, beset on the north by conquering Communists.

Even as the warlords, generals and leaders arrived in Nanking, a government source revealed that a Red underground organization was hard at work only two miles from the capital.

A hint that Chiang, or his Nationalist leaders under a new chief, would carry on the fight came late in the day. Gen Chen Cheng, former army chief of staff, was appointed governor of Formosa by the executive yuan (council).

Possible Flight Indicated

His appointment, plus the fact the navy and air force have moved some of their headquarters units to the big island off the coast half way between Shanghai and Canton, might presage flight of Chiang's government there if Nanking is attacked.

North of the Yangtse it appeared almost all over for Chiang's men. A few pockets held out, notably in Peiping and Tientsin, and Gen. Tu Li-Ming's red-surrounded force 30 miles south of Suchow. None seemed to have any chance of getting out.

Nanking was filled with rumors of peace. One source described the forthcoming meeting as a "roll call" of those national leaders who still retain personal followings either military or civil in order to determine the feasibility of continuing the war with the Communists.

Reported Ready To Quit

There were recurrent reports here that Chiang, after more than 30 years at China's helm, had decided to quit. His successor, these sources said, would be Vice President Li Tsung-Jen, who might try to negotiate peace with the Reds. But whether the Communists, who list Chiang as the No 1 war criminal to be tried, will negotiate with any national government is problematical.

All high sources denied the rumors.

Steadily Chiang has been pulling back all the troops he was able to save from north of the Yangtze. Airdrops of food and supplies to the 100,000 troops of Gen. Tu Li-Ming, trapped 50 miles south of Suchow, have been resumed. But observers said the effort was more humane than military. Their chances of escape are considered slight.

Promote Young Russ Official

May Be One of Leaders Truman Said Wanted Peace with West.

MOSCOW, Dec. 29—(AP)—Alexei N. Kosygin was made minister of light industry today and relieved of his duties as minister of finance, a job he had held 10 months.

Arseny G. Zverev resumed as finance minister.

The presidium of the supreme soviet (parliament) made the appointments. At the same time the presidium expanded the powers of the ministry of light industry.

Kosygin, 44, is one of the youngest of the highly placed men in the Soviet government. He became an alternate member of the politburo (the political bureau of the Communist party's central committee) March 20, 1946.

He succeeded Zverev as finance minister last Feb. 17 and Zverev became his first deputy.

The Moscow announcement coincided with publication of a Stockholm report in the London Daily Mail that Kosygin was believed to be among the Russians President Truman referred to Sunday when he said certain Russian leaders "are exceedingly anxious to have an understanding with us."

The Mail named three others it said were believed anxious to "switch Russian future policy through channels of diplomacy and propaganda": Prime Minister Stalin, foreign Trade Minister A. I. Mikoyan and G. M. Malenkov, secretary of the Communist party's central committee.

A dispatch from Moscow, yesterday, however, said no support was discernible there for President Truman's inference that there is disagreement in the Soviet leadership over reaching agreements with the United States.

PREDICT LEGAL CLOSED SHOP

Both Labor, Management See Congressional Doom of Closed Shop Ban.

WASHINGTON, Dec 29—(AP)—People on both sides of the labor-management fence are predicting that the 81st congress will make the closed shop legal again.

If this happens, great numbers of workers will be brought under contracts requiring them to be union members in order to get or hold their jobs.

Labor leaders are taking it for granted that the closed shop ban in the Taft-Hartley act is doomed. Officials of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States says this "seems likely."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), one of the sponsors of the Taft-Hartley law, told a reporter:

"It is safe to say that the absolute prohibition of the closed shop is likely to be changed."

Hints at Substitute

But Taft quickly added that it's impossible to predict exactly what congress will enact on this general subject. He hinted he will seek a "closed union" ban as a substitute for the closed shop ban.

"If we are going to permit the closed shop we can hardly have the closed union," he said.

By 'closed union,' he means a union that bans people from membership on grounds other than non-payment of reasonable dues or initiation fees.

Taft predicted flatly that congress will eliminate the Taft-Hartley provision which prohibits a union from writing a "union shop" contract unless a majority of the employees authorize it in an election.

"This provision ought to go," he said.

Here's how the union shop differs from the closed shop:

A closed shop contract prevents the employer from hiring a worker who isn't a member of the union. A union shop contract permits the employer to hire any worker he pleases, but the workers must then join the union or get fired. Under either contract, if a worker quits the union the employer has to fire him.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in its publication "Business Action," says this:

"Radical changes are inevitable in the Taft-Hartley law • • • it seems likely that these sections of the Taft-Hartley act would be wiped off the statute books in any event: (1) the ban on the closed shop, (2) the provision that a majority of employees must give their assent before a union shop can be installed in a plant."

If this happens, here are some of the probable results:

1 John L. Lewis's union shop contract with the coal operators would automatically become legal and the "unfair labor practice" case against him would be dropped. The contract was written so as to leave it up to the courts to decide whether the contract was legal.

2 The same applies to the contracts in the maritime industry. These contracts continued the hotly disputed hiring halls on a tentative basis, pending court decisions on their legality.

3 The "maintenance of membership" provision in the steel industry, now due to become automatically illegal under the Taft-Hartley act next April 30, would continue in effect for another year, until the steel contract expires April 30 1950 and longer than that if the parties agree to keep it.

Pre-Christmas Savings Were $250 Billion

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—(AP)—There's no telling yet what Christmas did to the collective savings account of the American people—but they started the last three months of the year with $250,000,000,000 tucked away.

That figure came from the securities and exchange commission today. It's what the government calls "liquid savings"—either cash or assets that can easily be converted into cash, but not stock market investments.

The commission has no official estimate of the savings picture as of the moment.

School Leaders Seek Change in Districts

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(AP)—Ohio school superintendents will ask the 1949 state legislature to reorganize school districts so the smallest has at least 1,500 pupils.

The school administrators drafted the proposal yesterday while meeting in conjunction with the Ohio education association convention. The three-day OEA meeting was due to end at noon today.

The reorganization plan, designed in the interests of economy and better schools, will result in at least 25 county-wide school districts if it is approved, said Harold Vincent, Canton superintendent and president of the Ohio Association of School Administrators.

Also Approve Plan

Committees of the Exempted Village Superintendents association and the County Superintendents association also approved the plan. The three groups said their recommendation resulted from a two-year study which showed such a reorganization would afford better educational opportunities to children at a saving of millions of dollars annually.

Shortly after the reorganization plan was approved by the superintendents, the OEA adopted a 20-point legislative program. If enacted into law, the program will add a minimum of $17,500,000 to the states school bill in each of the next two years. Main points of this program are $225 cost-of-living increases to teachers in 1949-50, a $3.50 per pupil increase for school operations and non-teaching salary adjustments, $3,250,000 for new school buses and $500,000 for rehabilitation of buildings in low valued districts.

The superintendent's program would require county boards of education to draw up reorganization plans and present them to the state department of education for approval. County boards would be permitted to propose large school districts of any size, but the minimum administrative district would consist of at least 1,500 pupils.

The proposal would wipe out the several school districts which maintain no schools in their district and prohibit the establishment of new districts except in incorporated cities with an enrollment of at least 2500 pupils. Sponsors said the latter provision was aimed at preventing establishment of small independent districts outside county jurisdiction.

Woman Elected Head Of Teacher Group

COLUMBUS, Dec 29—(AP)—Miss Margaret Boyd, Steubenville mathematics teacher, was elected president of the Ohio Education association last night.

Miss Boyd, who was unopposed, thus became the second woman elected to head the 101-year-old OEA. She was advanced to the presidency from vice president earlier this year by the executive committee after the resignation of the elected president.

George C. Beery of Columbus, Franklin county superintendent of schools, was elected vice president and Mrs. Sylvia Todd of Lakewood was elected teacher representative on the executive committee. Both were unopposed.

W. J. Hilty of Washington Court House, superintendent of Fayette county schools, was named to the board of control of the Ohio Teachers and Pupils Reading Circle and Judson C. Siddal, Toledo elementary principal, was elected administrator representative to the executive council.

Among those named to the educational council were:

Hazel Baver, Lima high school teacher, M. F. Cooley, Warren high school teacher; Christ Geckler, Hamilton high school teacher and R. L. Morton, Athens, Ohio university.

HOPE FADES FOR 30 ABOARD LOST PLANE

MIAMI, Fla., Dec 29—(AP)—Hope waned today for the lives of 30 persons aboard a charter plane which disappeared on a flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Miami.

A fleet of Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard planes tuned up at dawn to resume search over the 1,200 mile air route to San Juan, the Florida peninsula and the eastern Gulf of Mexico.

A Navy blimp at the Boca Chica Naval air station near Key West prepared to fly over the Everglades.

The official passenger list released at San Juan last night, named 25 passengers and a crew of three as aboard the missing craft. Earlier Airborne Transport, Inc., of New York, which leased the plane, said two infants in arms were aboard.

Crew members were Capt. Bob Linquist of Fort Myers, Fla., pilot; Ernie Hill, Jr., 22, of Miami, co-pilot; and Miss Mary Burke of Jersey City, N. J. stewardess.

Many of the passengers who boarded the plane at San Juan at 10 02 p. m. (EST) Monday were described as Puerto Ricans returning to the United States after holiday visits to relatives.

Juan Rodriguez, 30, and Florencio Rivera, 38, both bound for Lorain, Ohio, were among the passengers.

Rental Radios in Use at Marion Hospital

To give patients at Marion City hospital an opportunity to listen to radio programs, small rental radios have been placed in the hospital, James Mautz, business administrator, reported today.

Ten of the radios, which are compact and have pillow speakers, have been placed in the hospital for rent by patients at 50 cents a day. A portion of this money is collected by the rental company while the remainder goes into the general hospital fund.

The speaker of the radio is attached to a long cord and placed under the pillow through which the sound comes clearly but not loud enough to disturb others in the same room or close by.

WYANDOT CO. JURY HEARS MURDER CASE

Prosecutor To Ask First Degree Indictment.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec 29—The Wyandot county grand jury, called into special session by Prosecutor Russell C. Price, today began hearing testimony in the case of William McCoy, 60, St. Louis Negro section hand charged with the first degree hatchet murder of Cornelius "Pat" Green of Indianapolis, a fellow section hand, on Christmas day.

McCoy, whom Deputy Sheriff Carl Stansbery said, admitted the killing, pleaded not guilty when arraigned on the first degree murder charge before Mayor Edwin S. Naus Monday night.

A sheriff's department spokesman said McCoy asked for a lawyer to represent him today.

Rated by Wyandot county deputies as one of the 'most cold blooded'' murder suspects ever seen here, the tall 170 pound McCoy told deputies he had served ten years in Missouri state prison, from 1932 to 1942 for the murder of his sister-in-law, a deputy reported. He also admitted to having done a killing before that, the deputy added. A check of his story is now being made by FBI headquarters in Washington D. C., the deputy said.

Accused of being the "hatchet man" killer of Cornelius Green, a 260-pound father of five, a sheriff's department spokesman said McCoy admitted "chopping down" Green with 18 blows from a sharp hatchet. McCoy admits ownership of the hatchet and told deputies he slept with it under his pillow for "self defense." He showed no remorse over the killing the sheriff's spokesman added. After giving deputies the details of the killing, and identifying the blood covered hatchet, McCoy returned to his cell in Wyandot county jail Christmas day, ate a hearty dinner, and went to sleep, a turnkey reported.

Sheriff B. H. Stansbery was advised today by the wife of the murdered man she would not

POSTAL RECEIPTS UP OVER LAST HOLIDAY

36 Per Cent Gain Reported by Postoffice.

Postal receipts for the Christmas season this year Dec 1 to 24 amounted to $44 504 50, an increase of 36 per cent over the corresponding period last year, records in the office of Postmaster Homer D. Cole show. Last year the receipts for the 24 days amounted to $32,794 84. Cancellations totaled 1,179,200 during the 24-day period an increase of 19 per cent over the same period last year. An increase of 20 per cent in parcel post receipts was estimated over last year, Postmaster Cole said today.

Total receipts for the current year to Dec 25 amounted to $411,340 65, an increase of $140,945 44 over the same period a year ago when receipts amounted to $270,395.21. A general increase in business throughout the year is responsible for the increase the figures show. Receipts were lowest during the month of February when the records showed $25,025.21, and the heaviest month was November when the receipts amounted to $46,636 50.

Seventy extra clerks and carriers were added to the regular staff during the holiday season, Postmaster Cole said. Christmas mail was delivered by Friday noon giving the regular carriers and clerks a well deserved half-day holiday. Packages received Christmas day and the Sunday following were delivered by substitute carriers.

Costumes Lend Color To Benefit Ball

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Highlighting the holiday social calendar was the anniversary ball sponsored by the Woman's Board of the Marion City hospital last night at the Hy-Way Rollarena. Two hundred and fifty couples danced from 10 until 2 o'clock to the rhythmic music of Russ Carlyle and his 15-piece band.

As always the dance was a gala event. The gowns worn by the matrons and misses were colorful and lovely, the music was entertaining as well as pleasing to the dancers and the arena provided a cheery setting with its yuletide decorations. This year marks the twentieth holiday season members of the board have sponsored a benefit dance, the proceeds of which have gone to aid in financing its work at the Marion City hospital.

Large cutout snowflakes of silver, boughs of evergreen and red and white Christmas plaques decorated the walls and garlands of greenery were used to decorate the pillars and railings. Christmas trees against a blue setting provided the background for the orchestra and completing this part of the decorations were the figures "20" in white. The dance floor was completely encircled with tables arranged for refreshments.

Out-of-Town Guests

Attending the dance were a number of out-of-town guests here for the holidays or to attend one or more of the many dinners and cocktail parties which preceded the dance. Among those from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. John Platt of New York City; Mrs. Dick B. Braun of Fort Smith, Ark., Lt. Col. Don Renwick and Mrs. Renwick of Columbus; Miss Mildred Purcell of Vincennes, Ind.; Miss Arline Lucille Kraft of Batavia, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. William Burd of Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Elizabeth Foster of Beverly Hills, Calif.; David J. Bernard of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Clark of Caledonia; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Boyd of Mt. Gilead; William Smith of Urbana; Miss Dorothy Lee Artz of Lima and Jack Dee of Bellefontaine.

In addition to the orchestra which featured Nancy Clayton as vocalist Christmas carols were sung during the intermissions with John Cheney, young Marion musician, at the organ.

To describe the many lovely gowns and their equally attractive wearers would take more space than today's quantity of news print allows. A petunia satin gown, with a harmonizing sequin trimmed short coat worn by one of the dancers, had for contrast a vivid blue handkerchief, and a Paris gown of black angora wool embossed with the same material and worn with a short black ermine trimmed jacket and a sequin

Red Germany

Capitalists Travel Dangerous Road

(Last of 6 Series)

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Dec 29—(AP)—It's tought to be a capitalist in eastern Germany Your life may be forfeit

It's fine to be a Communist You get better rations, more coal for your home and a fatter salary

The Soviet occupation zone is still in a topsy-turvy economic condition but the blueprint of future developments is at hand

State trusts are swallowing up private industries

Kolkhoz (collective) farming is the next step in agriculture

Communists are spreading their control so that it will be decisive in every economic pursuit.

The process of Sovietization was begun by the Red army in 1945 when the ruins of Berlin had hardly stopped smoking, and the allies were still looking for Hitler

Now this process has such momentum that it can be expected to continue regardless of whether Russian troops depart It started with two fundamental measures creation of a proletariat of the soil and acquisition of key industries by a Russian trust

The land reform in 1945 wiped out not only the rich Junkers but middle-class farmers as well Two hundred thousand city-dwellers, who had never turned a furrow, were resettled on plots as small as 12 or 15 acres Small farmers received additional bits of acreage, but not enough to make them independent

Monopolize Machinery

Since then, the Union of Mutual Farmers' Aid, bossed by Communists, has attempted to monopolize agricultural machinery as an introduction to collectivism

The outlook is that many of the "new settlers" will be unable to make a living on their own and will be amenable to joining a kolkhoz when Communists push them The Union of Mutual Farmers Aid has 26 per cent of the available tractors in eastern Germany and gets priority on buying any new ones

About a third of the total industrial capacity of eastern Germany is owned by the Soviet Union Some concerns have been turned back to German state trusts but never to private owners

Saxony is typical Its trusts are in 100 per cent control of coal, power, ore and cellulose They have majority interests in machine tools, metals optics, textiles and knitted goods

Private textile manufacturers were holding out against a Communist-sponsored campaign to squeeze them from the industry But Saxon courts recently condemned six textile executives to death on black market charges

Capitalism has a hard time matching that kind of persuasion

Management of state trusts is done by central boards Their membership is, to say the least, hodge-podge, but Russia likes it

They include a representative of the Communist-run trade union federation, two representatives from the anti-Fascist front of political parties, another from the ministry of economics, and another from the industry's personnel There is also a technical consultant

The Soviet zone undoubtedly would be further advanced in achieving a strong economic basis for what Communists call a people's democracy if Russia had taken less out of the country for herself

Production Cut

At Potsdam in 1945 the allies approved removal of capital equipment, in principle In eastern Germany, this has meant not only all the armaments industry proper but 45 per cent of all the peacetime indutries by 1938 standards

Potsdam however, supposedly banned the removal of current production as reparations The Russian interpretation was different

After stripping of plants virtually ceased in January 1947, the Russians were still hauling away the output of many factories In some industries, as much as 90 per cent of production was earmarked for Moscow

During 1948 the Russians eased off in their demands, but it may have been to make a virtue of necessity The allied counter blockade crippled East German production A half-year plan failed badly to reach its goals in such items as motor cars and optics

The two-year plan for 1949-1950 starts with grim prospects

But economic hardships fall hardest on private enterprise Communists take comfort from that fact They shug off current failures to better the lot of the proletariat

In a few more years, they say, the worker in Dresden or Leipzig will be as free and porsperous as if he were in Moscow They say he will feel sorry for the workers in "capitalistic shackles" in the United States

FOUGHT OFF SHARKS. Russell A LaTona (above) 13 of Sacramento Calif cabin boy aboard the SS Grete Maersk, leaped overboard in a vain attempt to save another cabin boy, Bent Jeppsen 14, from sharks in the waters off Cuba Russell said "I tried to save Bent, but the sharks got him and the sharks got after me too"

Her damaged wrist hidden in a capacious handmuff, Faye Emerson, actress wife of Elliott Roosevelt, tells newsmen in her New York apartment that she did not attempt suicide when she cut her wrist with a razor blade Sunday at a Christmas party at Hyde Park, N. claim the body because of lack of funds to give it proper burial. A sheriff's deputy said the body of Green would probably be buried in potters' field tomorrow.

McCoy remained impassive as the grand jury considered his case today, his huge hands folded in his lap.

Prosecutor Price was certain to ask for a first degree murder indictment and planned to bring not less than 10, and possibly 12, witnesses to the stand today, a sheriff's spokesman said. No indictment was expected to be returned today because of the multitude of witnesses and the amount of testimony the state would offer. A court stenographer required six hours to record the testimony of only five witnesses prior to the trial. Persons close to the investigation of the case said they would not be surprised if the state produced some new witnesses whose identity had not as yet been divulged by the prosecutor.

Battle of Negev Has Come To End

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, Dec. 29—(AP)—Reports from Israeli and United Nations sources indicated today that the second battle of the Negev had come to a tentative halt.

A UN spokesman at Haifa said reports from observers in the southern Palestine desert said "all quiet."

An Israeli military spokesman said earlier the battle was "slackening."

Unofficial information available here was to the effect that the battle was virtually ended unless Egypt is able to send strong reinforcements across the border into Palestine.

WOMAN DIES IN PLUNGE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29—(AP)—A woman about 30 today plunged nine floors to her death seven minutes after registering as a guest at Hotel Hollenden. Police said she registered under the name of Mrs. J. R. Olson of New York City. Her body crashed into a covered skylight directly over the Hollenden lobby.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Is Your Toothbrush Worn Out?

Most everybody now uses a tooth brush and, regardless of the controversies concerning its use it is a good habit to follow. Still, it is true that it has not yet been definitely determined to what extent tooth decay may be prevented by brushing the teeth. But if for no other reason the process of brushing the teeth is necessary for good mouth hygiene. And it may be helpful in the treatment of gum disorders.

However, if brushing the teeth is to be of any value, a toothbrush must be used.

An investigation of the type of toothbrushes used by many people has been carried out. The study was made by having over 5,000 families in all the toothbrushes then in use by members of the family, in return for which they received new toothbrushes. These families were selected from industry and farm areas and from various economic groups.

The toothbrushes obtained were divided into two general groups, those still satisfactory for use and those which were unsatisfactory.

Over 8,000 toothbrushes were submitted for examination and sorting enough only about one-fifth of them were found to be satisfactory. Nearly 80 per cent of them were in need of replacement because they could no longer be used effectively for brushing the teeth or because their use might even injure the gum tissues.

Bent or broken bristles were found to be the main reason why a toothbrush was unsatisfactory. Matted bristles were second in importance and insanitary conditions the least important.

Many of the toothbrushes had caked dentifrice or food debris at the base of the bristles, therefore it would seem that emphasis should be placed on the proper care of the toothbrush such as rinsing it thoroughly after using it to get rid of accumulated material and storing it to dry.

People should not only be encouraged to keep the mouth clean by using a toothbrush regularly, but should also realize the importance of using a satisfactory toothbrush and taking good care of it.

Questions and Answers

Can an enlarged uterus lead to cancer?

Answer: Enlargement of the uterus (tumor) should not be a contributing cause to cancer.

Ohio Gas Hearing Scheduled Jan. 18

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(AP)—Ohio communities will have their first chance Jan. 18 to give the state public utilities commission their views on the critical gas situation.

Harry Fitzgerald, assistant attorney general for the commission, said yesterday municipal officials have been invited to a quarterly natural gas hearing "so that everybody will have his day in court."

Fitzgerald said persons in the Akron district have complained about present methods of gas allocation. At the hearing, the commission will consider extending a year-old emergency order restricting gas usage.

Fitzgerald denied he said yesterday the PUCO will investigate charges that gas companies have diverted their gas allocations to parts of the state where the highest rates are charged customers.

However, Junior had one fault at the breakfast table. He took huge spoonfuls.

"One more spoonful like that," replied Junior, blissfully, "and I'll be ready to leave the table."

ASSASSINATED. Prime Minister Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrasky Pasha (above) of Egypt, was assassinated in the Ministry of Interior, where the prime minister was on the way to his office. Police in Cairo, Egypt, where the shooting took place, said Pasha was shot by a student disguised as a police officer. (AP Wirephoto).

SAYS EGYPT IS SEETHING

Writer Tells of Terrorism and Internal Strife in Ancient Land.

Daniel De Luce, veteran war correspondent has returned to Berlin after a long assignment with Arab armies engaged in the Palestine war. He outlines in the following dispatch the background of recent events in Egypt.

• • •

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN, Dec 29—(AP)—King Farouk of Egypt carries a pistol and is a crack shot. The terrorism which yesterday claimed the life of his premier is known to be a constant threat to the 28-year-old monarch.

Not since he ascended the throne at the age of 16 has Farouk encountered so many political troubles as this year.

Internally, Egypt is seething.

Defeats in Palestine have shattered the high prestige of the Egyptian army in the eyes of the Arab world.

Even before he ordered his troops into the Holy Land, Farouk was confronted with a police strike in Cairo and Alexandria last March.

The police strike was crushed by the army. The army obeyed the king. But foreigners were surprised by Farouk's risk in employing the authority of the throne in an explosive social issue.

The Egyptian expeditionary force which entered Palestine in mid-May had never been tested in battle. Farouk lavished gifts, medals and praise on it.

Censorship lulled the Egyptian public into believing its generals surpassed Eisenhower, Montgomery or Zhukov in strategic genius.

Few realities intruded in reports on military operations against Israel.

When disasters came, Cairo agitators blamed the strongest man in Egyptian politics, Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrasky Pasha. But behind Nokrasky stood Farouk.

Assassination has been an occupational hazard for Egyptian statesmen. It is certain that Nokrashy Pasha knew his life would be in jeopardy when he outlawed the fanatical Moslem Brotherhood.

The Brotherhood, in the past, has been a handy propaganda instrument for Egyptians who aspire to make Cairo the spiritual capital of 40,000,000 Arabs in lands around the Mediterranean.

But its terrorism against rich Egyptian Jews, including murderous street riots and costly dynamitings, shook the country's politico-economic structure.

Whatever else that is said about Farouk, he has personal courage. He has carried on his regal functions in public without a trace of fear.

He and intimates of his entourage, however, carry pistols at all times. They practice marksmanship together at least once a week. The king particularly likes to shoot at coins tossed in the air.

Friends say honest, stubborn Nokrashy Pasha exemplified Farouk's chief political goals—Egyptian sovereignty over what is now the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and 100 per cent Egyptian control of the Suez Canal zone, where British troops still linger.

New Premier Takes Over Reins in Egypt

CAIRO, EGYPT, Dec. 29—(AP)—A new premier took over today the reins of government dropped by the assassinated Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha. He urged Egyptian unity for the struggle in Palestine.

The new premier is Ibrahim Abdel Hadi Pasha, who was chief of the royal cabinet. He is expected to carry out Egypt's policy toward Israel much as Nokrashy Pasha would have done.

The cabinet was readjusted.

TO UNDERGO SURGERY

BUCYRUS—William F. Hawk, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hawk, Bucyrus, entered Grant hospital, Columbus, Tuesday to undergo bone surgery. Young Hawk was seriously injured in an automobile-motor scooter accident, in Bucyrus last June. A companion, Carol Keesy, 15, was killed. He suffered fractures of the pelvis and left thigh and was confined to Bucyrus City hospital for nearly six months. His parents said he probably would remain in the Columbus hospital another six months.

Ohio Lost 4,391 Teachers in 1948

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(AP)—Ohio lost 4,391 teachers during the last school year, the state department of education reported today.

Director Clyde Hissong said 791 were married. The others, he explained, went into industry, retired, moved to other states, died or joined the armed forces.

He added that 4,412 new teachers were employed to compensate for loss. Despite this, he said, there still is a shortage of 889 teachers.

Currently, Ohio employs 43,921 teachers, school supervisors and administrators. Of these, 56 per cent are in city schools, 37 per cent in rural schools and 7 per cent in exempted villages.

7 Cage Carnivals Draw High School Teams into Action

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(UP)—Jet-propelled basketball teams this week-end as well as a time as they zoom over the field to see who is the class to beat before the [illegible] next month.

Tournaments were either in progress or about to begin in at least one of the big states.

Perhaps the top one is slated for tonight at Cleveland Heights' gym where undefeated Toledo Scott, runner-up Shaker Heights and powerful Canton McKinley tangles with the Cleveland Heights Hilltoppers. Also on tonight's [illegible] that sector is the intriguing battle between undefeated Cathedral Latin and Canton Central Catholic.

At Fremont tonight Ashland, Bellevue, Fremont Ross and Norwalk have a two day go-round, while Lima Central will be the scene of a tourney involving Mansfield, Greenfield McClain, Lima Central and Findlay.

Out To Avenge Loss

Ashland will be out to avenge its lone set-back of the year at Fremont when it meets Bellevue, victor by a 44-42 score two weeks ago, and Findlay, the 1948 state champion, will meet its match in Lima Central, defeated only once this season.

Tonight at East Liverpool Elyria tangles with Toronto while the home club meets Lorain in a continuation of skirmishing that started last night at Toronto.

Invitational tourneys in the Cincinnati area occupy eight teams. The one at North College Hill including Purcell, Western Hills, Terrace Park and the host school, will end tonight at Norwood Walnut Hills. Plainville and Withrow will battle.

Tournaments will be held also at Troy and Piqua. Dayton Wilbur Wright, Oakwood and Urbana start it off at Piqua tonight and Troy, Osborn, Celina and Dayton Kiser clash in a two-day series at Troy.

Meanwhile, after only one short month of play preceding the Christmas holidays, a whole host of teams are rearing their heads as possible contenders for Ohio's top high school basketball prize—the state championship.

Already Beaten Once

Findlay's Trojans, the 1948 champs, have already been beaten by Xenia Central to throw the race wide open, and Massillon Middletown, Garfield Heights, Hamilton and Lakewood appear to be major contenders at this early date.

Others with good chances appear to be Columbus Central, Greenfield, Miamisburg, Ashland, Canton South, Portsmouth, Toronto, Coshocton, Lancaster, Campbell, Youngstown South, Springfield, Toledo [illegible], Toledo Waite, Lorain, Dayton Dunbar and Dayton Stivers. Tan parochial schools showing well are Cathedral Latin and St. Xavier's bombers.

In Class B circles New Knoxville is said to be the one to stop, with Delphos St. Johns and Eaton, 1948 champs, in threatening spots. Eaton was defeated also by Xenia Central, which thereby earned a giant-killer title for its feat of knocking off the state champions in both classes.

In a headline game last night, always potent Hamilton handed Columbus South its first defeat of the season by winning at Hamilton, 61-55. Bill Wilks and Gene Baldwin paced the Hamilton squad with 20 and 17 points respectively. Bill Camp and Frank Zubovich led the Columbusites with 12 points each.

In another game last night, little Canal Winchester as yet unbeaten, defeated Carroll of Fairfield county, 69 to 45. The win was the sixth straight for Canal Winchester.

'CATS STAR PASSER SUFFERS SORE ARM

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 29—(AP)—In the absence of any major development, today's Rose Bowl conjecture centered on a right arm.

It belongs to quarterback Don Burson, who is not only Northwestern university's best but practically her only worthwhile passer.

The arm, which accounted for 33 completions out of 80 throws for a not so sensational gain of 493 yards this fall, is sore.

There is nothing seriously wrong, but it is so sore it will be kept under wraps, unused for throwing purposes, until it accompanies its owner onto the playing filed New Year's afternoon against California.

The 21-year-old arm—the exact age of Burson—is not the most deadly weapon in college football.

But it was sharp enough to hit targets for five of the seven touchdowns Northwestern scored via the air. And as a threat, it was dangerous enough to keep the enemy secondary far enough back to permit Art Murakowski and his running mates to roll up gains on the ground. And roll they did, into the Rose Bowl.

At nearby Riverside, meanwhile, Waldorf's Big Bears continued to belabor each other but at last reports no arms were broken, or even missing. The Bears, despite their unbeaten record, as against NU's setbacks by Michigan and Notre Dame, remain underdogs.

VET READY TO FIRE CITATION'S FORELEG

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29—Dr. A. H. Davidson, veterinarian of Lexington, Ky., was all ready to apply a firing iron today to gallant Citation's injured left foreleg.

Dr. Davidson arrived yesterday and completed preparations for the firing last night.

Warren Wright's champion three-year-old horse came out of the Dec. 11 Tanforan handicap in California with a "popped Osselet." The growth was described as about the size of a half dollar.

ST. MARY ALUMNI EDGE 1948 TEAM

Win Contest, 47-44, in Final Minute of Play.

Last year a St. Mary courtmen, pitted too much for this year's crop of youngsters at Edison Junior High school last night, by edging them out in a hectic fourth quarter scramble 47-44.

In the first quarter it looked like St Mary's present team would show a little more than the older boys, but the picture changed in the second. The 1948 varsity outscored their seniors 11-9 in the first quarter, but were on the short end of the same count in the second to leave the first half in a deadlock.

The game remained that tight right up to the final minute.

The alumni led three points with a few minutes left, but three Irish free throw attempts in succession tied the score with less than two minutes to go. In the remaining time, the alumni passed in three points to take the contest.

Bill Merchant spearheaded the Irish attack most of the way. His clever ball-handling and speed were a mainstay all evening for the alumni team, led by Dick Schuler, Dick Drake and John Balnauf.

In a game played before the main event, the Mid-town Chevrolet turned in a workmanlike job by downing another group of St. Mary Alumni, 49-40. After a close start with St. Mary trailing by a single point at the half, the Mid-towners inched into the lead and held it until the final whistle.

Shorter Low Hurdle Race Recommended

CHICAGO, Dec. 29—Delegates to the annual meeting of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations were scheduled to hear reports today on football, basketball and baseball.

The first recommendation was placed before the group at yesterday's opening session by E. A. Thomas of Kansas to shorten the low hurdles race in high school track meets. Thomas, a member of the joint National Collegiate Athletic association and High School Track and Field committee, recommended the distance of the race be reduced from 200 yards to 180 and the number of hurdles cut from 10 to eight with 20 yards between each hurdle.

Thomas told the 200 delegates from 46 states that the shorter hurdle event has been adopted by California and Pennsylvania and will be standardized in Kansas this spring.

Mid-Ohio Officials To See Cage Movies

Basketball movies will be shown at a meeting of the Mid-Ohio Officials association at the YMCA tomorrow night at 8 p. m. All coaches and officials are invited to see the films which were secured from Kent State university by Dave Rayburn, vice president of the association.

The movies which will be shown are: Basketball by the Code, Basketball Today, and Basketball Up To Date.

1ST IN RIFLE MEET

From results recently released Don Hinton, owner of Hinton's Sports Shop, learned yesterday that he came in first in a North Central Rifle league match Dec. 9 with a 285 score out of a possible 300. He was one of 60 shooters competing. The Present Rifle club of which Hinton is a member lost its match with Gasco, an industrial team, by one point. Firing was with small bore rifles at the standing, kneeling, and prone positions.

Former Circus Tumbler Now Working for Y

The YMCA has recently acquired the services of Royal Nadeau, a former Ringling Brothers circus performer who will work with the boys, senior men and possibly a women's group in classes of tumbling and gymnastic work.

Mr. Nadeau traveled with the Ringling outfit for eleven years, working with the Carter family, a well known tumbling and acrobatic team of a decade ago. The classes under Mr. Nadeau's supervision will consist of tumbling and floor gymnastics for the women, and emphasis on high bar, spring board and parrellel stunts for male groups.

The work of Mr. Nadeau will help stimulate a portion of the YMCA program to be established in the coming winter months. All interested groups who would like training in this phase of the YMCA physical education program should call Vern Miller, at the Y.

5 EX-RED BIRDS PILOT AA CLUBS

Five former Red Birds will be at the helm of American association clubs as the teams go to the barrier for the 1949 pennant race. In addition to Hal Anderson, skipper of the Red Birds, Nick Cullop of the Milwaukee Brewers, Walter Alston of the St. Paul Saints and Nemo Leibold of the Toledo Mud Hens, Tommy Heath has joined the managerial ranks of the American Association to become field leader of the Minneapolis Millers for 1949.

Three former Flock managers will again lead National league clubs in quest of the 1949 flag. Eddie Dyer will head the Cardinals, Burt Shotton the Dodgers and Billy Southworth will be trying for a repeat for the Braves.

Johnny Keane, former Red Bird infielder will move to Rochester from Houston for the coming season with former Flock backstopper Del Wilber taking over the Texas league entry for the Cardinal organization.

In addition to the aforenamed, 29 other former Columbus Red Birds manage clubs in minor circuits.

1948 Horse Racing Summed Up in One Word—Citation

NEW YORK (AP)—It's Citation all the way.

That one line best describes thoroughbred racing in 1948. The Calumet Farm 3-year-old bay colt by Bull Lea-Hydroplane II was the "horse of the year." He ran and won at every distance. Many experts say he is another Man o' War.

The wonder horse of 1948 won the triple crown — Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes — pretty much as he pleased, with the veteran Eddie Arcaro aboard.

Now the second leading money winner in history, Citation won the Derby by four lengths and the Preakness and Belmont each by six. He picked up for Warren Wright's stable a quarter of a million dollars in taking the triple crown. His Preakness winnings of $91,870 was his high for one race.

Sole Defeat

Citation's only defeat of the year came in the Chesapeake Trial, a six-furlong sprint at Havre de Grace. In this race he was bumped and then carried wide as Saggy, a fine sprinter, won by a length in the mud.

Citation caused minus pools in the mutuel wagering at several tracks. Because of his presence in the Derby and Preakness, both fields were small and the tracks limited the betting to "win only."

Among Citation's other triumphs were the two rich Gold Cup events. He won the Jockey Club Gold Cup, a race grossing $108,800, and two weeks later took James Butler's International Gold Cup, a race valued at $111,700.

When it came time to run the Pimlico Special in the fall every owner or trainer with an eligible ducked the issue and Citation won on a walkover.

Citation's Derby win marked the third for Calumet, the fourth for trainer Ben Jones, with an assist for his son Jimmy, the actual trainer, and the fourth for Jockey Arcaro.

In winning more than $675,000 during the year Citation enabled Calumet Farm to lead all stables in money won for the fifth time in 13 years.

Assault, triple crown winner in 1946, was retired to the King Ranch stud in Texas. Stymie, $1,500 bargain horse also was retired, but a comeback in 1949 is planned for the world's top money winner who has earned $911,305 in six years of racing.

The top 2-year-olds were Blue Peter, owned by Joseph M. Roebling of Trenton, N. J. the Maine Chance Farm's Mr. Busher and Myrtle Charm, a filly winner of her three races.

Blue Peter won time $113,110 Belmont Futurity beating Myrtle Charm by a neck in time that was one-fifth of a second off the world record for 6½ furlongs.

3,000 Winners

Johnny Longden, English-born veteran and a millionaire in his own right, became the first American jockey to ride 3,000 winners. He led the nation's riders [illegible] at Tia Juana, Greentree Stable contract boy [illegible] applied [illegible] at New Orleans.

Another Citation regular jockey met an untimely death while [illegible] training expedition in Florida a few days after he had ridden four Hialean winners.

Wagering at the nation's tracks declined for the third straight year with Delaware Park outside Wilmington the only major track to show an increase in both attendance and wagering.

Willie Molter, operating in California tracks led the nation's trainers in winners for the third straight year. Earl Sande, great jockey of another era and rider of three Derby winners was suspended for 60 days by the Jockey Club on a charge of illegally possessing narcotics.

Many figures were paid for horses in a continued effort to improve breeding. Mrs. Alexandra Louis B. Mayer sold a stallion, Alibhai, to a Kentucky syndicate headed by Leslie B. Combs II, for a reported $500,000 and Neil S. McCarthy of Los Angeles sold the Australian-bred Shannon II for $300,000 to the same syndicate.

Djebel, French champion, was bought by an American syndicate for $225,000 but he evidently didn't like ocean flying. He killed himself to death while being flown across the Atlantic.

87 SET TO PLAY IN CROSBY TOURNEY

DEL MONTE, Cal., Dec. 29—(UP) — Eighty-seven amateur golfers were scheduled today to play in Bing Crosby's $10,000 national pro-amateur golf championship here Jan. 14, 15 and 16.

Heading the amateur field in the 18-holes per day competion were Del Webb, New York Yankees owner; Manager Lefty O'Doul of the San Francisco Seals and ex-major league manager Jimmie Dykes; footballers Bones Hamilton, Ernie Nevers and Biff Hoffman; and movie stars Dennis O'Keefe, Dick Arlen, John Hodiak, Randolph Scott, Johnny Weismueller and Crosby himself.

Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Byron Nelson headed the list of professional golfers invited.

DUPLICATOR TRIUMPHS

ARCADIA, Calif., Dec. 29—(AP)—Duplicator, Beau Pere's two-year-old son, copped the $50,000 added California Breeders championship stakes yesterday as 35,000 fans watched the 12th winter meeting open at Santa Anita park.

YMCA Game Room Open to Members

The YMCA has announced the opening of its game room.

Located on the first floor of the Y, the room contains two pool tables and a ping pong table donated by friends of the Y. The tables have been newly recovered and refinished and are now in excellent condition. Because of a limited amount of space the room is reserved for the business men Y group, senior members, and members and guests of the Harding Junior and Senior Hi-Y clubs.

Since its opening last Friday, the game room has been almost constantly used, said Harold Fralich, boys director. It is open during the day to business men and senior members of the Y and at night to Hi-Y club members.

Indian Runner Wins 225-Mile Sun Race

EL PASO, Tex., Dec. 29—(AP)—Pedro Paseno, a Tarahumara Indian runner, won a 225-mile race from Chihuahua City to Juarez, Mexico.

He covered the course—interrupted only by celebration of El Paso's Sun Carnival—Juarez is just across the border from El Paso.

Eight other Indians, members of the tribe of Tarahumaras, finished the grueling race. The Tribe is noted for its feats of running.

Paseno covered the distance in 45 hours. His comment at the finish:

"My feet hurt."

High Pay Over For Pro Football's Subs

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 29—(AP)—The financial future of professional football's lesser lights is likely to be pretty gloomy, general manager Charley Ewart of the Philadelphia Eagles predicted today.

Ewart said the name players in the National Football league—such as the Eagles' Steve Van Buren, Tommy Thompson and Pete Pihos—will continue to get fat contracts in 1949 but that the substitutes and rookies will feel the crush away from the big money next season.

"I think the top players should get every cent they're worth," Ewart asserted. "And I personally hope we'll always be able to pay them top salaries."

But the unmistakable trend is downturn, Ewart said, adding that means "our teams, and those in the All-America conference, I guess, won't be shelling out fat contracts to subs any more."

DECLARED INELIGIBLE

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(AP)—Ohio State university's track team will be without the services of Bill Clifford, ace half miler, during the 1949 indoor season, Coach Larry Snyder said last night that the 1947 NCAA 880-yard champion has been declared ineligible for the indoor season because of grades. Five other trackmen—milers Gene Davis and Ed Meadow, sprinter Fred Johnson, hurdler Fred Smith and two-miler Dick Rose—also were declared ineligible. Ohio State is defending Big Nine indoor and outdoor champion.

TOP CAGERS OPEN TOURNEY TONIGHT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29—(AP)—The greatest collection of collegiate cage talent since last spring's final Olympic tryouts will be assembled at the municipal auditorium here tonight for the opening of the streamlined four-team Sugar Bowl basketball tournament.

Coming in the first game of the two-night hoop carnival at 7:30 p. m. CST, will be undefeated St. Louis university, winner of the National Invitational tournament last season, and Holy Cross, defending eastern NCAA champion and collegiate title-holder the previous year.

The second game tonight sends Kentucky's all-victorious Wildcats against a Tulane quintet that has won eight of its nine starts this season.

While Kentucky is favored to turn back Tulane by four points, a feat accomplished in Louisville only last week, the St. Louis-Holy Cross tussle is rated a toss-up.

Chances are a little better than 50-50 that the final game tomorrow night will see Kentucky squaring off against St. Louis, a setup to which the Sugar Bowl folks have had in mind when they made the matches months ago.

Second-Half Rally Brings Iberia Win

18 Escape Injury In Forced Landing

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 29—(AP)—Fifteen passengers and three crewmen escaped injury when a Piedmont airliner made a forced landing shortly after taking off from the Tri-City airport near here last night.

The twin-engined craft landed safely in a hilly, snow-covered field a mile and a half from the airport. Co-Pilot James Craig said the forced landing was made by Pilot H. H. Hutchinson after a loss of oil pressure in the right engine caused mechanical trouble.

SAYS BOUDREAU TO GET NEW CONTRACT.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 29—(AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer said today that Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians is due for a new two or three year contract with higher base pay and bigger attendance bonuses.

The paper said:

"Provided the Indians draw approximately the same number of people as they did last season the 31-year-old pilot will receive between $60,000 and $75,000, according to the reported terms under discussion.

"Boudreau next year is likely to make as much as Bob Feller, who is slated for a decrease in pay."

Boudreau, the American league's most valuable player in 1948, draws two salaries one as manager of the world champions and the other as shortstop. At his home in Harvey, Ill., he said:

"I expect to be in Cleveland Jan. 18. I think Bill and I will discuss it further at that time."

"Although the tribe's pilot is still working under a two-year agreement signed last winter, President Bill Veeck has indicated that he will tear up that document and replace it with one that is likely to elevate Boudreau into the highest paid class of performers in baseball."

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK Dec 29—(AP)—Small gains and losses were well scrambled at the opening of the stock market today.

Several big blocks of stock changed hands in trading which was active for a while but soon quieted.

The steady undertone of the market was a carryover from a late rally yesterday after prices had taken the sharpest overall drop of the month.

U. S. Steel started ¼ lower on a block of 1,500 shares. Also down were American Can, Bethlehem (also on a 1,500-share block), Republic Steel, American Airlines, Montgomery Ward and U. S. Rubber.

Higher were Dome Mines, Westinghouse Electric, Standard Oil (NJ), Studebaker, Southern Railway, Baltimore & Ohio, Du Pont and Anaconda Copper.

Nothing's "Too Hard To Get" With Marion Star Want - Ads!

Finding things hard to get? Having trouble locating a livingroom suite, a vacuum cleaner, an electric motor, a washer or what-not? Then read the want-ads every day.

You'll be surprised what rare finds you can pick up through a want-ad. Anything from a 16-tube radio down to an egg-beater—the kind of things that are mighty hard to get in the stores these days—and in practically every case you'll find them in good-as-new condition.

The want-ads are a great help to folks who find themselves up against the "shortage" problem. Let them help you. Make it a point to read the want-ads EVERY DAY.

It's easy to get "Extra Cash" too with the Want-Ads!

Look around the attic, basement or storeroom for things you no longer have any use for. A Want-ad will quickly find you a buyer with ready cash. Take advantage of the low 6-day rate but CANCEL your Ad the moment its purpose has been accomplished. You pay only for the number of insertions used.

The Week of Letdown

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — THIS is the annual last week of mankind—the week of the big letdown.

I mean, of course, in America.

It is during this week that America is in a big essential sense the least like a foreigner would expect.

He would come here prepared to find the wealthiest people in the wealthiest nation—a nation that has spread its wealth deeper and farther among more people than any of the other so-named civilized nations—geared to the machine.

Hal Boyle

But he would find that these people are out of tune with the machine. Their pulse has lost tempo. He would find—this foreign visitor—that this is the week when the vast mechanism that is America slows down.

It is the time when the "circuit breaker" operates. It also could be called in the language of Detroit "mental retooling week."

It comes always at the same time—the week between Christmas and the New Year.

It is the time when the slowdown of the production output is only partly measured by the holidays men take from their jobs.

* * *

NEITHER CAN it be measured by the extra alcohol that some consume nor by the extra days that they take away from their tasks. In addition, in many cases, to their regular holidays.

There is a human factor that cannot be shown accurately on any chart or graph. This is the adjustment that takes place in their souls at the annual season of good will.

It is the time of letdown. It is the rest period that any productive equipment, man or metal, must have—else it collapses.

Certainly it is a strange and mixed time, confusing beyond any other period. For it is in this week that a man, relaxed by a feeling of well being looks toward the goals his race could really achieve—by living nearer to his religion all year round.

It is also, unfortunately, the time when many new annual business contracts are let, contracts that determine the year ahead. Many old men who have run the machine—their own particular machine—are quietly given their walking papers. The newspapers are full of details of new promotions. But for most promotions there is a heartbreak—as well as a heart leap.

* * *

SOMEBODY gains . . somebody loses . . and either way a man wants to keep the lights shining on his Christmas tree just a few more days.

The big man, the middle man, the small man—papa bear, mama bear, baby bear—they are all prisoners. They are victims of a new failure or a strange success, something to make them live differently. The new year always has a fresh burden or responsibility to be shouldered.

But even if they escape the persecution of sudden change, there still is an adjustment to be made.

For they have seen for a day a holy vision—an interlude when they could live by the heart, and spend its goodness like prodigals.

They have had this happy holiday of the heart and its freedom, and it just takes them a little while to go back. They accept the harness a little slowly, like a tired horse that has tasted for a day the vacation of the greener pastures we all yearn for.

It isn't a bad thing at all—this letdown. Every system has to permit it. Even in the cycle of the stars the astronomers allow for a leap year. Man is a creature that has to leap sometime, too.

Christmas is only the small opening in a door that the world will open wider as it wisens.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

By AP Newsfeatures

JESS WILLARD, born Dec. 29, 1883, in Kansas, where both Watmegan and St. Clere in Pottawatomie county claim him as a native son. He tried cow punching, mule skinning, horse-trading and working as a railroad laborer before taking up fighting, for which he had no real appetite, after killing a man in the ring in 1913. He knocked out Jack Johnson in 1915 and became champion. He was dethroned by Jack Dempsey in 1919.

NEW CAR SALES HIGHER DURING CHRISTMAS WEEK

Thirty-two cars and three new trucks were sold in Marion county during the week ending Dec. 28 according to records in the office of Calvin Oborn, clerk of courts. New car sales during the Christmas week marked a gain of 10 over the total sold the week previous while sale of new trucks fell off by one from the total for two weeks ago.

GALION ROTARY CLUB HEARS ASSEMBLYMAN

Rep.-Elect Carl Baker Talks on Policy Matters.

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 29—"This is the time of inventories; when individuals, communities, states and the nation should look over accomplishments of the past year and think of plans for the coming year," Carl Baker said in opening his talk on "Inventories." He spoke Monday at the dinner-meeting of the Galion Rotary club at Hotel Talbott. Baker is the new representative from Crawford county to the Ohio state legislature.

In listing accomplishments for the state of Ohio to look after this coming year he said he was confident that one of the big items would be an improved highway program. He said he believed there would be a long-range planning program put into effect which would mean more than merely maintenance.

He believes that one solution for Ohio traffic ills would be a trans-state turnpike. Second item on his list included the law enforcement for which the state will aim. He said he thought the Lausche administration will make a large effort toward this end.

The state tax system needs complete study and overhauling to secure a more equitable distribution of state money, Baker opined. He expressed the belief that a more properly planned and sound tax system would require fewer special levies by communities because they would get a larger share of tax funds.

Fourth recommendation made was improving the conservation program.

In the national field, Baker said things needing attention were labor-management relations; better balanced and better managed tax system; and improvement of natural defense.

For the international field he recommended continuation of the Marshall plan and attention to the German situation, and to the Asiatic problem. He said he thought the situation in China was characteristic of all Asiatic nations seeking independence.

Guests included Charles Gross of Hasbrouck Heights, New Jersey; Lloyd Babb of Springfield, Mass. and Rev. Turner Holt, pastor of the Church of Christ.

REQUIREMENTS CHANGED

Dependency requirements for enlistment and re-enlistment in the regular Navy have been tightened, reports Chief Engineman Carl T. Prusnek of the Marion Navy recruiting substation. Recruit enlistments and those under 4 years are limited to 2 along with other ratings. They include first enlistments and broken service enlistments in pay grades five, six and seven. Pay grades one through four are allowed only three dependents and continuous service enlistments still are without restrictions. These requirements are now in effect, said Chief Prusnek.

DeKalb Corn Growing Contest Winner Named

PROSPECT—Albert Tuke, farmer on the Lyons, north of here, has won the DeKalb hybrid corn growing championship of Crawford county. Tuke's production was 128.76 bushels per acre for a selected five-acre plot. An engraved plaque will be given him.

Crawford county farmers placing in the next three positions in the contest included: William Zink, New Washington, second with a yield of 124.05 bushels, Ray V. Kocher, Bucyrus, third with 113.04, and Pearson L. Linn, Bucyrus, fourth with 112.72.

Mrs. Green who weighs only 98 pounds explains in her French-Canadian accent:

"Zere's no use to use zee net. She points out that if you can get close enough to get ropes on the pet then you are close enough to grab them with your hands.

Mrs. Green was assistant to a veterinarian before she was appointed to the dogcatching job.

However the comely lady dogcatcher has one problem. She wants to keep most of the dogs she captures for her own pets.

Steel Head Outlines Prosperity Formula

By CHARLES M. WHITE
President, Republic Steel Corp.

Written for International News Service

Whether or not this era of great prosperity continues will depend in a very large measure on the nation's administration, the congress and the country's labor leaders.

If the administration will lead the way to decreased government expenditures if congress will eliminate possible labor trouble by taking a realistic view of the Taft-Hartley law will permit a more rapid depreciation of new facilities, and will recognize the real danger which lies in an excess profits tax if the nation's labor leaders will take a deeper interest in the welfare of the country as opposed to a temporary advantage for some union members then there is every possibility that the prosperity we are now enjoying will continue for an indefinite period.

• • •

THE THREAT of a renewed excess profits tax and price control causes business to question the advisability of expansions and improvements which would further decrease too slender cash reserves.

Assurance that there is no danger of an excess profits tax and that a more rapid depreciation of new facilities will be possible especially in the basic industries where added capacity costs many times the capacity it supplements, would mean a much more optimistic viewpoint on the part of business, which after all, is the source of jobs and prosperity.

There is another factor to be considered. We have an enormous volume of cash credit in the hands of the American people. To further insure a long period of prosperity we must have a widespread feeling of stability which will attract investment money into going concerns new enterprises and new products all of which will further enhance our standard of living.

• • •

DURING 1948 the steel industry made superhuman efforts to fill steel demands. The year's output will reach approximately 88.5 million tons and come very close to the all-time record set during the war.

In his talk at the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer pointed out that the October steel production increase is due in part to the fact that some skilled workmen are more plentiful, the vacation season is over, and that steel industry employes are again hitting a high production level with the heat of summer behind them.

Not only has the total tonnage reached near-record proportions but finished steel shipments, amounting to 65.7 million tons, will break all previous records.

The increases noted are due in part to expanded ingot capacity which the American Iron and Steel Institute reported as of Jan. 1, 1948, to be three million tons above 1947. There will be further increases as a result of 1948 expansion and additional capacity is scheduled for 1949.

Therefore, if we have the demand together with fair cooperation on the part of government, it is reasonable to assume that we may look forward to a rising steel output during the next year unless strikes or shortages of raw materials interfere with production schedules.

NEW SIGN ERECTED AT POLLAK PLANT

4-Foot Steel Letters Erected on 80-Foot Stack.

A sign that can be seen a half mile away was recently erected on the 80-foot main smoke stack of the Pollak Steel Co. The illuminated sign which reads "Pollak Steel" has white sheet steel letters four feet high set against a black background.

The purpose of the sign is to make it easier for visitors to Marion to find the location of the Pollak Steel Co. It is lighted by two floodlights. Mitchell Rech, an employe in the roll department designed the sign and the machine shop made it. For the Christmas holidays the Pollak Co. also erected a 30-foot Christmas tree surrounded by 15 smaller trees in front of the office building.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

IF you will please, Mary," I told her and was glad that I did not have to move from my chair to admit Katharine. I was tense with anxiety to know the result of her errand. Would the superdetective to whom Dicky had sent her be able to go at once to the school and find out the mystery investing Roderick's need for two hundred dollars, the sum which he had asked of his sister Mary stipulating that it be in twenty dollar bills?

I knew that in order to avoid any suspicion of private conferences between us Katharine would have to choose her own time of telling us what had happened, and I was glad of the opportunity to set her set her own stage.

She came in breezily and looked the scene over with practiced eyes.

"How is my patient, Nurse?" she asked Faith formally.

"He is getting along very nicely," Faith told her sedately.

"Is he asleep? I see his eyes are closed."

"I don't think so. But he is resting. I made everybody go away for ten minutes every hour while he rested. But the ten minutes is almost up."

"Don't let them come back until I get into my uniform Katharine said. "It's in the next room."

"I suppose I'll have to take mine off now," Faith said with a dolorous sigh.

"Oh no you won't," Katharine told her, and the child's face brightened. "I shall need you all the rest of the day. But you had better take it off, and put it away before dinner."

"I'll do that," Faith said, and then Katharine went into my bedroom, returning in an almost incredibly short time, fully invested in her own nurses' costume.

"Now," she said, coming over to the couch, "we'll look at the patient if he's awake."

"He's all of that," Dicky said, opening his eyes, "but go easy on the probes and pokes, please."

"All right, you alliterative hound," she said with a gamin grin, but proceeded to make a thorough examination of him nevertheless.

"Well, I think you'll last through the night," she decided, as she shook her thermometer down. "Just wait till I put this away and turn your bed down. Then I want you to come into the bedroom for a good nap. But I'm going to give you a rub down first. Want to help, Madge? I don't want to jar his arm. You can ward me off."

"Of course," I said, understanding her ruse to get us out of the room with her for a report on her errand.

"Then" Katharine turned to Faith and smiled at her. "You may have a half hour off. Nurse. You must need it. You have done a good job here."

"I don't need—" Faith began then checked herself.

"Thank you very much, Mrs. Bickett," she said sedately.

"You're very welcome," Katharine told her and then she turned back to me.

"Now, Madge," she said, "Just guard that arm, and I'll help him get up."

In another two minutes we were in the next room with the door closed. But Katharine did not speak until Dicky was lying down.

"Now," she said, "Give me your ears, and I'll spill the lentils."

trimmed headdress, was outstanding

A gold bag and accessories were combined with a white gown paneled at one side with pastel shades, and equally smart was the melon red gown with silver nail head trim. As smart as it was unusual was the almond green hat trimmed with pink birds which topped the head of a matron wearing an ankle length copper colored satin ensemble with pumps in the same shade. Long gloves matched the hat which was held with a veil tied beneath her chin. A smart blue satin ankle length costume was topped with a matching hat with pink feather trim and the wearer chose a purple orchid for a corsage

Sheer Pink Wool

A Hattie Carnegie gown, worn by one of the board members was of sheer pink wool, held with two narrow rhinestone bands over one shoulder. Completing the costume was a short matching jacket A red velvet cape worn over a black costume was a vivid contrast and a tall young matron chose a long bright green cape with gold sequin shoulder trim to cover her black costume.

Reminiscent of an earlier period was the nickel gray taffeta strapless gown fashioned with an elongated waistline and pannier front and back A short American broadtail jacket completed the ensemble A tall blond miss with gardenias in her hair, chose a black taffeta gown fashioned with a basque and a peplum lined with lavender to match her scarf, and equally striking was the red velvet costume worn by another blond dancer A black strapless costume with a very full ankle length skirt was worn by a young matron with a high upsweep do to her blond hair and another young matron chose a green striped strapless costume to contrast with her titian locks White was a popular choice of many of the dancers and these, as well as the many others in plain colors, plaids and stripes added immeasurably to the picture on the dance floor

The board today is awaiting reports on ticket sales to determine the amount cleared on the benefit

Mrs Carlyle accompanied her band leader husband to Marion The band has just returned from a three-month tour in the south and came to Marion from Johnstown, Pa. Following several engagements in Michigan and Ohio the musicians will head into New York for an extended stay.

HARVARD MAN TO HEAD MATH GROUP

[illegible] AP — [illegible] L Walsh of Harvard [illegible] [illegible] American Mathematical Society today [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] 55th annual meeting

He succeeds as successor Dr Ernest [illegible] Yale

Dr Hermann Weyl [illegible] Institute for Advanced Study [illegible] said mathematics is [illegible] "most popular" Josiah Willard Gibbs lecture last night [illegible] fascinating and real of the [illegible] problems

Dr Wey reported an Indian professor named Ramanujan [illegible] had discovered an amazing relationship between everyday numbers like seven and [illegible] and the [illegible] mathematics of [illegible]

Mathematicians also discovered an apparent bridge between the [illegible] of [illegible] and some deep problems of number theory concerning distribution of prime numbers he said

Prime numbers are those which [illegible] divided only by [illegible] and [illegible] as five seven [illegible] and 23

The [illegible] of [illegible] Dr Weyl explained is concerned with determining by mathematics what the behavior of a given medium under given circumstances will be

If a mathematician knows the length and makeup of a violin string for example and knows its tension he can by mathematics determine in advance the note that will result from plucking that string The same thing is true of other media such as a drumhead or membrane

THINKS MORE WOMEN SHOULD SEEK OFFICE

WASHINGTON Dec 29 AP — Rep Frances Bolton R-O said a handful of women members of congress is not enough More women should run for public office

She also urged the wives of members of congress to seek an active part in [illegible] 1 The timidity of women based on a feeling they would be intruding into what is considered generally a man's world

2 Men as a rule don't want women in politics

3 Women's preoccupation with such tasks as running a home and raising a family

Mrs Bolton noted that there [illegible] a member among the 531 members of the next congress and that no woman heads the government of any state or large city She commented to a reporter

It's quite shocking and tragic that we women have accomplished so little as we have [illegible] There are more women [illegible] the country but what we've done [illegible]

But she said [illegible] that women are [illegible] public responsibilities and [illegible] being accepted in the political world

That's evident in the younger generation she said And she added more women are going into business and professions

One of the chief stumbling blocks in the past she said, is that men though charming and gracious to us, just don't want us in politics

The assignment was handed the company by the atomic energy commission.

Primary goal of the project will be the development of a power plant for the propulsion of U S Navy ships

By means of a nuclear reactor—a uranium furnace with a function quite similar to ship's fireboxes that consume coal or oil

Although final terms of the contract between the company and the Chicago office of the commission remain to be determined, Charles H. Weaver head of Westinghouse's newly-formed atomic power division, said work on the atomic engine would start "within the next few months."

The completion date, however, was a matter of conjecture—"maybe two years, or it might be five or six"—Weaver said.

Seek Alternate For Strikes in Atom Plants

CINCINNATI, Dec 29—(AP)—The atomic energy commission is seeking an alternative for workers' right to strike in atomic energy industries.

Oscar S Smith of Washington, director of labor relations for the atomic energy commission, told the Association of American Law Schools yesterday that such an alternative was needed as an adjunct of bargaining in activities where the strike is rarely, if ever, appropriate

Thus far, he added the commission has not found an alternative which all parties would accept.

Arsenal of Peace

THE international control system to keep the Ruhr valley from furnishing arms for another German onslaught is more wishful than practical. By barring certain Germans from key positions, the system may still the misgivings of France. But the Western Powers will be lucky if the same restriction doesn't stir the misgivings of those who look at the Ruhr realistically. Among these are most of the Americans helping Europe rehabilitate its war-shattered economy.

The same Ruhr industries which produce weapons for war also produce materials for peace. When it is further considered that modern war counts nearly everything made by industry as part of its needs, the impossibility of neutralizing Ruhr industries becomes obvious. It is as hopeless as it would be to sort out the industrial production of Pittsburgh, for example, according to items for peace and items for war. Would equipment or a new electrical generating plant, for example, be war equipment or peace equipment.

It can be taken for granted that the Ruhr will not produce cannons, tanks, airplanes and artillery shells under international control. But it cannot be taken for granted that the control system now established will make another European war impossible. That is not something which can be determined by managers and workers in Ruhr industries. It is a question which will be answered by politicians fumbling with conflicts of national aspirations.

Frau Koch Isn't Worth It

BECAUSE there was no evidence that Frau Koch, wife of the cruel master of Buchenwald concentration camp, had done the things she was supposed to have done (using lampshades made of human skin, for example) the judge advocate general's department of the U.S. Army commuted her life sentence to four years.

That happened last Sept. 16. Ever since, there has been a state of indignation because the woman was getting off too easy. Evidence or no evidence, argued the critics, it was essential to make an example of her. "Four years' imprisonment is not enough," a commission of U.S. senators now has declared. The senators then go on to suggest that Frau Koch be tried again on some other charge; or if that can't be done without making a mockery of U.S. justice in Germany, that she be tried by a German court for crimes against German nationals.

It requires no imagination to see what may come of this celebrated case. In their frantic attempt to punish the most publicized German woman of World War II, Americans may yield to the temptation to substitute hearsay for evidence and thereby make a mockery of their system of justice. Frau Koch isn't worth it.

The Hardest Test

WHEN the founding fathers looked ahead to the problems which a representative government would have to solve in behalf of the American people, some of them were skeptical: They didn't believe the people could be educated to their responsibility; they were apprehensive of ignorance and prejudice.

Out of their apprehension came the American idea of education, now facing its hardest test. It comprises much more than education in the classroom. It includes what Americans learn by all methods of education, in schools and outside schools. It means an understanding of American principles, a working knowledge of current events, a thorough grounding in the origins of institutions and a sense of participation in the American experiment of popular sovereignty.

The test now confronting popular education in this general sense is whether or not upward of 150,000,000 Americans can make intelligent choices between right and wrong and between true and false in what is being called, with good reason, a battle for men's minds. This is the ultimate issue in the "cold war" with the international conspiracy of the Communist party.

Can American working people make the right decision between their destiny in a free, classless society and their fate under a political dictatorship bossed from the Kremlin? Can American employers make the right decision between their obligation to share their responsibility for the survival of free enterprise and the temptation to drift into the blind reaction which destroyed Germany? Can the citizenry as a whole make the right choice between propaganda and truth, between liberalism and despotism, between growth of individual responsibility and growth of dependence on statism?

Views of Harry Bridges

By David Lawrence

Listed as Advocate of Class Struggle

WASHINGTON

JUST as there are good and bad managements, so there are good and bad unions in America. But even some of the better unions have come to believe in the "class struggle" as one of the effective ways to promote the cause of trade unionism. This dovetails with the Communist party line which is designed to disrupt labor-management relations and bring nearer the day of economic chaos out of which the Communists hope to gain power everywhere in the world.

The senate and house joint committee studying labor-management relations has performed a public service by its latest study of conditions in the maritime industry on the west coast. While the industry has had a long record of errors on the part of both management and labor and has been faced with low profit margins and diminishing employment opportunities due to low-cost foreign competition, the manner in which the Communist theory has been applied to the workers is vividly portrayed in the committee's new report. Says the committee report with reference to Harry Bridges, leader of the international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union:

• • •

"HARRY BRIDGES has twice faced deportation hearings charging him with membership in and affiliation with the Communist party . . .

"In the course of a hearing before the impartial chairman in the Los Angeles-Long Beach clerks' dispute on March 18, 1948, Mr. Bridges made the following remarks according to the official transcript:

"'Do we develop, agitate, educate, or propagandize our men to be more loyal to the union than to the employer? You bet we do. No matter what happens in these proceedings we will never do otherwise. It is our union policy and an official policy—that they can't trust an employer; that if they depend upon an employer for any type of security or fair treatment, they'll get stung. And that is what we tell them; that their security comes through the union; and that their living comes through the union.'"

The Maritime union is one of those which has insisted on a closed shop because it gives them through "hiring halls" the right to exact fees for allocating jobs and for any other favor or privilege to men holding jobs—for after all under the closed shop, the union, and not management, gives the jobs.

• • •

THE AVERAGE trade unionist, who, like his counterpart in business management, wants the privilege of a monopoly because it gives him arbitrary power, does not, however, think along the same lines as Mr. Bridges insofar as ideological objectives are concerned. Mr. Bridges frankly confesses his objectives and makes it plain that trade unionism can get most when it champions the idea of a perennial class struggle.

The committee says with respect to Mr. Bridges:

"His concept of the proper function of the trade union movement is clearly one of class struggle. He has often been charged with membership in or affiliation with the Communist party. Whether the charge be true or false is of little import here. He freely admits cooperating with Communists whenever it suited his purpose to do so and no instance has been found when his purpose deviated in the slightest from the Communist party line of the moment. His attitude toward labor-management relations may be summed up in a statement attributed to him in a speech before the University of Washington Luncheon club at Seattle May 14 1937:

"We take the stand that we as workers, have nothing in common with the employers. We are in a class struggle and we subscribe to the belief that if the employer is not in business his products still will be necessary and we will be providing them when there is no employing class. We frankly believe that day is coming. We use politicians as long as they benefit the labor movement and when they don't, we fight them.'"

• • •

THE COMMITTEE report comments significantly at this point.

"Such an attitude makes political compatibility impossible. There can be no good faith collective bargaining with such as this.

"That statement by Mr. Bridges was made some 11 years ago . . . In May of this year Mr. Bridges defined his concept of good faith collective bargaining to the authors of this paper. He stated that if, when the union makes a demand, the employers give a flat 'yes' or 'no' answer, good faith bargaining has occurred. A clear statement of the employer's position so that the union will know where it stands is all that is required. But if the employers make a counterproposal or suggest a compromise, that is evidence that they are bargaining in bad faith.

"Bridges explained that this concept necessarily follows from the fact that the interests of the workers and those of the employers were always adverse and antagonistic; that there was therefore no common meeting ground, no basis for any permanent mutually satisfactory agreement; hence any attempt to compromise and find such non-existent mutuality of interest necessarily implies dishonesty and bad faith.

• • •

"THE BEST that could be hoped for as a result of 'good faith collective bargaining' under Bridges' definition would be a common understanding of the economic power of each party at any given time, recognized at any time in the form of a truce or temporary agreement, binding only until one side or the other believes that the balance of power has shifted."

The foregoing reasoning parallels in amazing fashion the reasoning of the Stalin-Molotov strategy in international affairs and accounts for the existence of the cold war today. But it also accounts for much of the labor-management strife in America which is fostered for the deliberate purpose of creating internal conditions of chaos by means of the so-called class struggle.

Yet there are patriotic labor leaders who do not realize they are being victimized by Communist philosophy and are insisting nevertheless that the very provisions of the Taft-Hartley act which were written to cope with the abuse of union power by unscrupulous leaders shall be erased from the statute books.

Didn't Happen but if It Had

U.S. Narrowly Missed Political Catastrophe

THE possibility of a presidential election with no majority did not materialize last Nov. 2. But it was perilously close to materializing.

If only ½ of 1 per cent of the voters of California and Ohio, each with 25 electoral votes, had switched from President Truman to Governor Dewey, the electoral vote would have been: Truman 253, Dewey 239, Thurmond 39. No candidate would have achieved the 266 votes needed for election. The election would have been thrown into the next house of representatives, with each state's single vote decided by that state's congressional delegation.

The interesting possibilities begin at that point. The four states which voted for Thurmond all would have had solid Democratic delegations, but nobody can be sure whether these would have voted to give their states' votes to Thurmond or Truman. Three other states, Connecticut, Idaho and Montana, which voted for Truman in the popular election, would have cast no votes in the house of representatives because their congressional delegations are evenly divided between Republicans and Democrats.

That would have left the decision up to the delegations of 41 states, which would have split 21 for Truman to 20 for Dewey, according to the political affiliation of a majority of their representatives. If all four of Thurmond's states then had gone to Mr. Truman he would have had the 25 votes needed to win an election thrown into the house. If not, there would have been no president or vice president to be inaugurated on Jan. 20 and the country would have been headed by the person elected by the Senate as vice president. In choosing a vice president under these circumstances, the Senate is restricted to two candidates and votes by membership, not by states; i.e., all 96 senators are entitled to vote in their own right.

States which went for Truman in the popular election but would have gone to Dewey in an election in the house of representatives are: California, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming. All of these elected a majority of Republican representatives. The only state which went to Dewey in the popular election but would have gone to Truman in a house election is Maryland.

Annuities for Congressmen

Security System Will Pay Off in 1949

ALMOST one-fourth of the members of the present congress, 18 senators and 113 representatives will be off the rolls when the 81st congress convenes Jan 3. Some of the 131 will be eligible for retirement annuities.

Congressional annuities were provided in the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946.

The public has become more aware of how congress does its work and of the personal problems of a member subject to the hazards of elective office. The LaFollette-Monroney joint committee that conducted exhaustive hearings prior to effecting the Reorganization Act said "If these (social) security measures are proper for regularly employed persons in business and in other branches of government they are likewise necessary in congressional service."

The Legislative Reorganization Act provided for optional inclusion of members of congress in the civil service retirement system after six years service (not necessarily continuous), with annuities beginning at the age of 62. If a member serves less than six years then takes another federal job, his years of congressional service will count in qualifying him for civil service retirement benefits. A member pays 6 per cent of his basic salary —$750 a year out of the present $12,500 salary. He receives, also, $2,500, tax-free, for expenses. Members serving before 1946 may pay in a lump sum covering their pre-1946 service.

The amount of the annuity is 2½ per cent of the member's average annual basic salary multiplied by his years of service in congress, with a top limit of three-fourths of his last salary.

As of June 30, 1947 (latest figures available), 25 former members of congress were receiving annuities. The average age of these 25 was 69.4 years, and the average annuity received was $3,368.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Thrusday, Dec. 29, 1938.

Farm state senators predicted the administration would seek about $900,000,000 for the following year's agricultural program, with part of the outlay coming from new processing taxes.

Mrs. Margaret Russell of Silver street entertained the Avesta Pinochle club.

Members of the Pleasant Farm Women's club were joined by their families for a Christmas party at the Pleasant township school. Arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Milford Schmidt, Mrs. Gail Smith and Mrs. Guy Dalton.

Mrs. A. E. Van Asbeck was elected president of the Ladies Aid society of the First Reformed church at a meeting held with Mrs. M. B. Hale of North Prospect street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garver of Silver street.

The Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. of Mt. Gilead was awarded a $74,000 contract by the U. S. Navy for construction of four presses.

After practically all his team showed up for practice with colds Coach Jerry Kingsmore of the Marysville High school "read the riot act" to varsity members of the basketball team about going without caps during the severe cold weather. Then to make doubly sure his orders would be obeyed presented each member with a knitted cap in the school colors.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, Dec. 29, 1928.

Mrs. Anna Frances Raffensperger, widow of Rev. Edwin B. Raffensperger, D. D., one of the early pastors of the First Presbyterian church here, died at the age of 94 at the home of her son, Dr. E. H. Raffensperger on South Prospect street.

City council adopted a resolution approving appointments by Mayor Earl Hazen as follows: Ervin Born, park board member; W. H. Schaffner, sinking fund trustee; Mrs. Alta Phillips, health board member; Ray R. King, city hospital commission member; J. E. Phillips and E. H. Cowan, members of the city planning commission; George T. Geran, Roy Owens, Dr. F. E. Mahla, Dr. C. J. Altmaier and Harry Hastings, all reappointed members of the boxing commission.

Virgil Dye, clerk at Hotel Harding, was reelected secretary and treasurer of the Hotel Greeters of Ohio at its annual convention in Youngstown.

Russia Hates Him

By George E. Sokolsky

HOLDING men criminals for serving their country in time of war is a renunciation of patriotism and chivalry. It is a presumption that in other countries the individual may employ private judgment beyond what we tolerate in this country. Yet that is precisely the doctrine that was established as a precedent at both the Nuremberg and Tokyo trials. Should we lose the next war, our secretary of state, our secretary of defense, our chief of staff, our commanders in the field would all be subject to this rejection of the laws of nations. Only the traitors, spies and saboteurs would be accorded their freedom. That was not the code when General Grant treated General Lee with the courtesy of gentlemen.

Now, among the men sentenced at Tokyo was Mamoru Shigemitsu, former ambassador and minister of foreign affairs. He received the smallest sentence, seven years. The American and British regarded Shigemitsu favorably, but the Russians hated him. The Nippon Times reported that Frank Keenan, the American prosecutor at the Tokyo trials, said the prosecution "feels ashamed" over the sentence of Shigemitsu.

• • •

SHIGEMITSU was not even convicted of conspiring for war. Instead the court said: ". . . . Indeed he repeatedly gave advice to the foreign office which was opposed to the policy of the conspirators." He is charged with serving his country after it has been at war. The majority of the court felt that he should have resigned as minister of foreign affairs while his country was at war.

In a word, they wanted him to be a quitter, a traitor. What would we have said of Henry Stimson or Frank Knox had they resigned in time of war because, let us say, they were Republicans? If the doctrine of the court is correct as regards Shigemitsu, why all this fuss over the Chambers-Hiss case? The whole evidence shows that the court bowed to Russian vindictiveness. The Russians hate Shigemitsu because he has had the reputation of being pro-British and pro-American.

• • •

FROM ENGLAND the following cable signed by distinguished Englishmen was dispatched to General MacArthur:

"GENERAL MACARTHUR
SCAP TOKYO

The undersigned sincerely trust that your excellency may see fit to exercise prerogative of clemency towards Mr. Mamoru Shigemitsu, a true friend of England who strove hard for peace.

R. A. Butler, Sir Edward Crowe, Arthur H. F. Edwards, H. A. Gwyne, Sir Francis Lindley, Lord Hankey, General Francis Piggott, Lord Sempill."

George A. Furness, an American lawyer who had been appointed to defend Shigemitsu in his petition, called attention to the court's decision as follows:

"The verdict of the majority of the tribunal with respect to this defendant (annex II) . . . says, '. . . Shigemitsu was in no way involved in the conspiracy.' With regard to his activities after the war started, the majority verdict says, 'He waged no war of aggression until he became foreign minister in April, 1943, by which time his country was deeply involved in a war which would greatly affect its future.'

• • •

IT MAKES NO MENTION of his efforts to end that war. But that is nowhere denied, and the evidence is uncontroverted.

"I have quoted Mr. Justice Roling's opening sentence to his dissent and will now quote his final words:

"'Summarizing, the accused Shigemitsu, Mamoru should be acquitted of all charges brought against him.'

"The majority sentences him to seven years from the date of arraignment, 6 May 1946, so that if that sentence stands this man who 'worked for peace rather than war' must remain in prison for four and one-half more years. The question then is whether he is deserving of any punishment and if he is, whether being branded as a criminal and the two and one-half years in Sugamo prison which can never be returned to him are not punishment enough."

This is indeed a miscarriage of justice I know of my own knowledge, from years of personal friendship, that Shigemitsu sought to prevent war, that he tried to find a basis for conciliation between China and Japan, and that he was criticized in Japan for being overfriendly to the United States. His reward for friendship is a jail sentence and the record of being a criminal.

Must we let Russia win everything?

The Once Over

Letters for Special Delivery

TO JOE THE WAITER

Dear Joe,

I read in the papers the other day a report of the biggest meat packing house in America says it lost two million bucks on the year, and you could have knocked me over with the check for that last steak dinner ex-cluding the baked potato, the green peas and the supper coffee. I don't know when any news item has shocked me flatter, and I hope you are the same.

• • •

If anything has cost me dough in the last few years it has been meat, and any time I come across with the ransome money for a sirloin a couple of chops I got the idea somebody must be making a little money. You often told me you thought so, too. The word that somebody was not even breaking even in the meat business would have unsteadied me, but the announcement from a big packing house that it went into a deep hole just on account of selling the stuff has me groggy.

• • •

It has been three years since I went into a good restaurant and got a steak for less than $3.50, and in most places I paid $4 and $4.50 with the gravy extra. A hamburger in the better inns set me back at least $2.50, which is a lot of dough for meatballs, well done, medium or served raw, with no discount for cash. And I have not noticed any lamb chops on giveaway programs.

• • •

Even the roadside hot doggeries have upped hamburgers 50 to 100 per cent, with an extra charge for the bicarb and stomach pump. On top of all this my weekly grocery bill has not aroused my suspicions that somebody except me was getting a bad break. When I read to my wife the newspaper item about the big meat packing house going into the red a cool million for the last fiscal year just from being foolish enough to handle meat at all, it did not seem to break her heart, either. She just said, "Oh, yeah! Read me the part where the milk industry is on government relief and where those bakers who get one dollar for a custard pie are without socks and shoes this winter."

• • •

She also wanted to know if any collection had been taken up for the rescue of the fish industry, the destitute Idaho potato growers and the undernourished poultry and egg men.

• • •

I tried to reason with her and point out that just because a steak cost money was no proof anybody was getting rich on it these days on account there was inflation and strikes and wage rises and a lot of trouble raising and developing a baby steer into a blueplate sirloin with onions, but I could not get anywhere. She still thinks the packers are not close to a breadline.

• • •

Why I write you I don't know, except that I always think of you in connection with a steak, and I thought maybe the boss hadn't seen the item and that you and he would sit down and have a good cry over it. Are you doing away? And is the proprietor in any danger of going under? If so let me know. I can't stand by and see anybody suffer.

Yours,
ELMER

The contention of Secretary of Labor Tobin, Bill Green and others is that in any amended Taft-Hartley law the employer should take the same oath he is not a Communist Party member that the workers take. We now await a rule compelling the fire engine to carry a banner denoting that it is against fires. And perhaps a sworn statement by both the swimmer and the shark that they are not going to interfere with each other.

We can't help wondering if the world would not have been in much better shape if the Wright brothers had stuck to the bicycle business.

Secretary's Report

By Truman Twill

Submitted herewith for the amusement of members of organizations who have listened to the secretary read the minutes of many previous meetings is one set of minutes that never will be written or read:

"The regular meeting of the Whoopsy-Doopsy Society was held in the usual place at the usual time with the usual consequences.

"After hashing over the usual stuff the members grew restless and the president, who was just as restless as anyone else, called off the whole thing before trouble ensued.

"Mrs. Hooligan had on a new hat which looked like a well tossed salad. Mr. Hootnanny Jr. had on a necktie that matched the hat, except for a spot of gravy just below the knot; one never finds gravy in a tossed salad, does one?

"The secretary doodled extensively on a stenographer's tablet which had been brought to the meeting especially for that purpose. This will explain why the minutes aren't very complete, because it is difficult to describe a doodle. There was one, however, that was a dilly. It was a caricature of Mr. Snafu in the process of making a motion—if you know why that would make a good doodle. Ha! Ha!

"All votes taken at the meeting were unanimous. Miss Stemwinder tried to put in her oar on the motion of Mrs. Bumptious to appropriate $3.62 for expenses incurred in line of duty, seconded by Mr. Whiffinpoof, but your secretary chose to interpret her raucous dissenting vote as a cough, which it might as well have been.

"It appears from the general tone of the meeting that everything is going well. There is a surplus in the treasury, but not enough to get excited about. That little complication which someone mentioned at the meeting before last—the one when the president's chair collapsed—has been ironed out. Everybody is happy. Peace prevails.

"Attendance wasn't good, but it never is. You might say it was about as good as could be expected without giving away a set of dishes as a door prize. That was suggested, incidentally, but nothing was done about it because no one volunteered to donate the dishes.

"A good time was had by all, a few jokes were told afterward, no one forgot anything worth remembering and when it was all over everybody went away feeling that he had done his duty and advanced civilization one notch.

"Oh yes. Mr. Bumblefinger knocked off a bowl of flowers and most of the water spilled on Mrs. Dumpling's new brown moire dress and made spots on it, but the spots were bound to happen sometime. That's the way it is with moire. She can always say they are badges of service or something, unless she decides to get a new dress. Anyway that's what she could expect from sitting close to Mr. B. who's always knocking off something, but never himself. Respectfully Submitted—

"Susie Quince"

NINE JAP OFFICERS SENTENCED TO DIE

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 29 (AP)—Death on the gallows was decreed today for nine Japanese officers including three generals for the beheading of 33 American fliers. Seventeen of the airmen were killed after Emperor Hirohito broadcast his surrender speech.

Sixteen other Japanese were assessed prison sentences ranging from five years to life. The U. S. airmen were decapitated after they were told their executions were in retaliation for the atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Eight were put to death on Aug. 10, 1945 and 17 were beheaded on Aug. 15—just four hours after Hirohito broadcast his surrender speech. Many of the 33 were used by the Japanese as archery and sword practice targets, witnesses at the trial testified.

Condemned to be hanged were Lt. Gen. Isamu Yokoyama, commander of the western army; Maj. Gen. Kyusaku Fukushima, assistant chief of staff; Maj. Gen. Shoshin Ito, chief of the western army legal section; Col. Kiyoka Tomeoroi; Capt. Yusei Wako, Lt. Hiroi Nakayama; Lt. Kentaro Toi; and probationary officer Masaki Ao Mararak.

CARDINAL

Communists took over in Budapest said the charges against the cardinal were "trumped up."

The charge of secret monarchist plotting was "thrown in obviously for the purpose of splitting the cardinal's supporters within Hungary. Many loyal Catholics are opposed to the return of the monarchy," he said.

In New York yesterday Francis Cardinal Spellman said the communique's allegation that Cardinal Mindszenty contacted him concerning the plot was "false."

Meanwhile diplomatic quarters here focussed attention on reports that persecution of the Catholic Church in Poland has been intensified in recent weeks.

Lengthy reports made available to the United Press cited repeated instances of arrests of Catholic priests and laymen, confiscation of church property and closing of church schools.

One report said an order of the Polish ministry of justice forbade the singing of Christmas carols in the public schools during the recent Christmas season. It said further that Christmas eve midnight masses were not held in Polish churches this year because of "Communist hooliganism" that disrupted similar services in 1947.

Says Cardinal Knew Of Coming Arrest

VIENNA, Austria, Dec. 29—(AP)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty refused to flee Hungary although he knew his arrest by the Communist dominated government was imminent, his assistant secretary has told friends here.

The secretary, a Father Paulus passed through Vienna last week, en route to France. He was quoted by friends as saying the cardinal had been warned repeatedly by associates to leave Hungary but refused saying "a shepherd must not leave his flock."

Father Paulus said the Hungarian government has been attempting to "compromise" the cardinal in the eyes of the Vatican by a national Catholic church free from the ties of Rome and western imperialists as the government put it.

The government Father Paulus was quoted as saying is now in session a Catholic congress to proclaim the birth of a new church.

The priest also was quoted as saying the government has been censoring the sermons of priests known to be loyal to Cardinal Mindszenty.

Two Minor Accidents Reported by Police

Two minor traffic accidents were reported by city police during the past 24 hours.

A car driven by Sherman R. Butler 54 of Grant avenue and a Yellow Cab driven by Alfred F. Easterday 31 of 330 North State street collided at Garden and West Center streets yesterday according to police reports.

At 4:03 p. m. yesterday a car driven by Robert F. Dull 33 of 181 Walnut street and a truck driven by William Edward Hoon, [illegible] N. Y. collided at Main and Center streets. Police report Hoon's truck struck the rear of Dull's car as Dull slowed for a pedestrian to cross in front of him at the intersection.

RESCUE

It was officially estimated that the joint Air Force-Navy rescue efforts cost at least half a million dollars.

Four disabled aircraft were left behind on the ice cap—a C-47, a B-17 and two gliders with a total original cost of $339,000.

The Air Force said it would make no immediate effort to remove the stranded planes from the ice cap. An attempt may be made next summer when the weather is better.

MARION MAN IN CREW OF CARRIER SAIPAN

In a telephone conversation Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Orie Swain of 230 West Pleasant street were informed by their son, Gene Swain, seaman second class in the U. S. navy, that he was scheduled to leave Norfolk, Va. on the aircraft carrier Saipan headed for Greenland. The ship left Norfolk Saturday to join in efforts to rescue the 12 American airmen stranded on a Greenland ice cap. Seaman Swain has been in the navy a year and has been stationed at Norfolk.

The stranded men were rescued yesterday before the ship reached Greenland.

Says Airmen Lived In Comparative Luxury

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 29—(AP)—The 12 United States airmen rescued from a Greenland ice cap suffered only slight loss of weight and said they lived in "comparative luxury" in snow houses.

An Air Force public relations officer at Searcy Harmon field today said the men built a three-cornered snow house on the Greenland cap. The house contained portable heaters and electric lights dropped from planes.

Films were dropped and the men made a pictorial record of their adventure. Three days ago a polar bear wandered to within 30 feet of the camp but did not molest the men.

Christmas day the men talked to their wives at their Greenland base over a portable radio transmitter.

POPULATION OF U.S. SET AT 148 MILLION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 (AP) — The population of the United States reached an all-time high of about 148,000,000 at the end of 1948, the census bureau reported today. The increase during the year was about 3,000,000.

In a further year-end summary of vital statistics for 1948 the bureau said:

The civilian labor force—everyone working or looking for work—reached 63,842,000 in July. That was the highest total in the nation's history.

Employment in non-farming industries alone reached 51,932,000 in November, topping the wartime peak of December 1944, by more than 5,600,000. There were 225,000 industrial recessions.

Married couples numbered nearly 35,000,000. Married women workers outnumbered single women workers by 8,300,000 to 5,900,000. More than 3,000,000 families lived "doubled up" with other families.

Hospital Reports On Condition of Children

Gerald Morgan, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervie Morgan of 747 North Grand avenue was reported in "fair" condition by attendants at Children's hospital, Columbus, where he is recovering from a brain operation. Kenneth Blankenship, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blankenship of 632 Herman street, also recuperating from a brain operation at White Cross hospital was reported in "poor" condition today by hospital attendants, The Associated Press reported.

SENTENCE GI WIDOW. Guarded by a military policeman, Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo of Malden, Mass., leaves military government court building in Marburg, Germany, after she was sentenced to 20 years in prison for killing her American soldier husband in a bedroom quarrel. The three-man U. S. military government court convicted her of killing Sgt. John Ybarbo of Goliad, Tex., "with malice aforethought."

UN ORDERS JEWS TO LEAVE NEGEV DESERT

PARIS, Dec. 29—(AP)—The United Nations ordered Israeli troops today to retire from the Negev desert of southern Palestine. The security council also ordered both Israel and Egypt to end hostilities there.

The council adopted a British-sponsored resolution by eight votes with three abstentions. No negative ballot was cast.

The United States abstained on all sections of the resolution as it was put to vote by paragraphs. Russia and the Soviet Ukraine abstained from all sections except the preamble and the order to cease fire.

The British resolution, as amended by France and Egypt, includes an order to both sides to cease fire and obey instructions given them by the acting mediator Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, in the council's Nov. 4 truce resolution.

These instructed the Israelis to retire mobile forces from the Negev division of southern Palestine and empowered Bunche to set up an insulation zone between the Israelis and the Egyptians.

Reports Less Betting On Ohio Tracks in '48

COLUMBUS, Dec. 29—(AP)—Ohioans had more chance to bet on horses this year than last, but bet less, the state racing commission announced today.

Mutuels received $31,168,989, compared with $31,787,155 in 1947. There were 218 days of running races this year but only 212 last year.

Harness racing, which accounted for $4,903,190 of 1948's total mutuels, ran for 128 days. Last year harness racing added $3,459,500 to the mutuels in only 79 days.

Receipts from 109 days of county fair races added $490,109 to this year's total and 99 days of county fair racing last year was $585,587.

State taxes on 1948's mutuels came to $555,618. Taxes on last year were $595,832.

Inveterate Burglar Finally Quits at 94

LONDON—(INS)—A saga of crime dating from the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 ended recently with the retirement of Britain's oldest burglar, 94-year-old Bob Wooldridge.

With a staggering list of convictions and sentences totaling some 40 years, Bob reluctantly admitted crime does not pay.

Bob's nefarious career nearly ended before it really started. He went to America to make a fresh start and had a narrow escape from death during the 1906 San Francisco earthquake.

He returned to England—and a life of crime.

The last time he was caught Bob jumped nimbly into the dock at police court and pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted burglary.

Prosecutor Miles Archibald described Bob's attempt to break into a factory and added: "The astonishing thing is that he climbed a six-foot wall and jumped 14 feet to the ground and was not hurt or distressed."

FLOATS ON OIL STREAM

By The United Press

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. — The million pounds of moving parts of the famous 200-inch Mt. Palomar telescope are kept floating on lubricating oil to prevent friction. Steady streams of oil are pumped through small holes, keeping the telescope lifted and rolling, like a ball in a vertical jet of water, said A. G. Ingalls, an editor of Scientific American. "This reduces the friction so much that if you were to lay your hand on the side of the telescope you could easily turn the whole million pounds provided it were not locked," Ingalls told a General Electric science forum.

HOLLAND AGREES TO END FIGHTING FRIDAY

PARIS, Dec. 29—(AP)—The Dutch Netherlands told the United Nations security council today the Dutch will order an end of hostilities in Indonesia at midnight Friday.

The Dutch representative, Jan Herman Van Royen, also announced that the Netherlands soon will release President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic and members of his cabinet who were captured at the outset of Dutch operations.

The release will be "on the understanding that the persons concerned will refrain from activities endangering public security," he told the council.

The statement came within an hour of the end of a 24-hour deadline served by the council on Holland yesterday for the liberation of the Indonesian Republican leaders.

BATAVIA, Java, Dec. 29—(AP)—Indonesian Republican sources said today Maj. Gen. U. Tomo, one of the Republic's fiercest warrior leaders is leading storm troops in nightly raids against Dutch posts in the interior of Java.

These sources said Tomo's men were the center of fierce fighting Monday night around Madiun, taken recently by the Dutch in their new "police action" against the Republic. He also is said to have raided Dutch positions at Modjokerto, Kediri and Malang.

FIRE LOSS $1,000,000

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 29—(AP)—A flash fire today destroyed the Pipe Line Service Corp. factory at nearby Glenwillard. Firm officials estimated damage at close to a million dollars. R. D. Copeland, sales representative, said a gas torch failed to light and the fire followed when accumulated gas exploded. The one-story building collapsed and all equipment and materials inside were lost. The company, which has headquarters in Chicago, has five other plants.

ROTARY HEARS TALK ON CHINA

Columbus Engineer Speaks at Weekly Luncheon of Club Here.

[illegible] engineer for the Jaeger Ma[illegible] of that city was guest [illegible] the Rotary club week[illegible] meeting Tuesday at [illegible]. A veteran of one [illegible] one-half years service in [illegible] World War II as a [illegible] with the U. S. Army.

Mr. Bohannan chose as his subject [illegible] and illustrated his talk with [illegible] pictures. Clare Wolfe, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker.

A native of China, Mr. Bohannan has lived in China [illegible] years and has traveled extensively in that country. He said there are [illegible] times as many people in China as there are in the United States and so many problems to the country and so many [illegible] that are [illegible].

A [illegible] of China, he said, is a mental attitude of the people of the United States.

Mr. Bohannan explained that the United States [illegible] China [illegible] has been a [illegible] and that [illegible] stated that he is [illegible] about [illegible] with the Chinese people as he believes a better understanding of Chinese psychology and the Chinese form of government is a necessary fact.

Since the Chinese government is largely provincial he explained it is hard for a Chinese to understand [illegible] of national government. He explained in terms of the local government because it is the local government which collects the taxes.

Mr. Bohannan explained there are four general forms of government in China, the family because family ties are very strong in that country, the village, the province, and the national government which is very remote.

A multitude of dialects and languages are spoken in China. Therefore, Chinese in the north and those in the south, who have to can understand each other when they use the written language.

Speaking in regard to the country of China itself Mr. Bohannan said there never have been many railroads in China and that now only a few miles of railroads are left. The principal means of transportation, he said, is by water which is slow. A real problem in giving aid to China, he believes, is getting it into the interior because of the transportation problems.

The Chinese Communists, Mr. Bohannan stated, are supported by the Russian government and because of this factor we cannot expect much from the present set up in China. China is now a republic he added, because the Chinese do not understand what a republic really is. He expressed the belief that there is a great need for something to be done to support the present form of government in China, explaining that the people need education and respect for government.

Following his talk, Mr. Bohannan showed colored moving pictures which he had taken in the interior of China while he was stationed there, showing views of various cities, river views, Chinese flower gardens and irrigation work in fields.

Guests of the club were Rotarian Walter Schaefer of Cleveland, Rotarian J. Lowell Patterson of Continental, Rotarian Roger Mitchell of Kennedy, Tex., Rotarian F. W. Mikesell of Greenville, O., David Bernard and William Burd of Los Angeles, Calif., Clarence Billet and F. A. Clark of Columbus, Milton Porter of Madisonville, Ky., Larry Daly of Bowling Green, O., and Grover Snyder, William Foster and Ransom Williams of Marion.

SEES "THE ACCUSED" AND TURNS SELF IN

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29—(AP)—Those movie detectives are really convincing. Ask Charles H. Moore, 36, formerly of Tuscumbia, Ala.

Moore called the sheriff's office last night and told them he was wanted in Alabama on a charge of embezzling $2,800 in state funds. He was cashier for the state liquor control board.

"I'm down here at the Pacific Electric Railway depot," he said. "I'm wanted for embezzling and I'm ready to give myself up. Come and get me."

Det. Sgt. F. P. O'Connel found Moore, bags packed, waiting in the depot. He told O'Connell that he had planned to leave town but decided to give himself up instead.

"I saw a picture the other night ('The Accused')," Moore told O'Connell. "There was a detective in it that just never gave up. I've been thinking about him ever since. I decided that you'd get me now or later, and it might just as well be now."

Officers verified that Moore was wanted and booked him on a fugitive charge.

The New York Social Register has just come out in its 1949 edition . . . and a lot of people who used to be in Chapter One aren't even in the Appendix. This is the "Blue Book" that tells people whether they're in society . . . or if they're out in the cold with only about 142 million common Americans. You can be born into it, or marry into it, but if the editor thinks you don't belong you can be dropped quicker than a hot anvil. The register is required reading for all New Yorkers with social ambitions. It tells them whom they can speak to, which is mighty convenient if you're not able to make up your own mind.

HORNBY APPOINTED TO CITY COMMISSION

Retired Teacher Is Member of Civil Service Board.

Arthur M. Hornby of 126 Johns street was named a member of the city civil service commission yesterday by Mayor Dwiler.

Mr. Hornby's appointment is effective as of yesterday Mayor Dwiler said. He will serve the remainder of the unexpired term of the late James E. Messenger which ends Dec. 31, and then will begin service on his own term which will run for six years beginning Jan. 1, 1949. Mr. Hornby is a retired school teacher.

Other members of the civil service commission are Robert Brown and William Summers.

Main duty of the commission is the examination of candidates for the police and fire department, the mayor said.

Man Found Unconscious Along Railroad Tracks

Forest Kunkle 31, of the rear of 720 Darius street was found by a train crew last night at 8:06 p. m. lying along the west side of the C. and O. tracks between Center and Columbia street.

He was only semi-conscious when found. The train crew notified the nearby dispatcher's office from which city police were summoned.

Police called Uncapher's ambulance after examining the man and finding he had a bad cut on the back of his head and bruises on his body. A police spokesman said there was nothing in his condition or appearance to indicate he had been hit by a train.

He was removed to City hospital where he was given emergency treatment by staff physicians. His condition today was reported to be "fairly good."

Police expressed the belief Kunkle stumbled, fell and injured himself while walking in the dark.

PENNSY LAYS OFF 15

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Dec. 29—(AP)—The Pennsylvania railroad announced today a layoff of 15 shop men in the Wellsville, O., yards because of a switch from steam to diesel engines. About half of the men laid off are eligible for pensions, the company said.

Tibet has no railroads and no highways.

KILLS AGED WIFE. "She talked too much." That was the reason Paul Diemes (above), 72-year-old retired wrest-worker, gave police in his confession that he hammered his mate of 51 years to death in their home in Parma, suburb of Cleveland. After battering the head of his wife Mary, 68 numerous times, Diemes told police, he went back to bed and slept. Some 10 hours later he went to a neighborhood bakery shop and told the proprietor what he had done. The couple have seven children, all married.

Layoffs Announced By C. & O. Railroad

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 29—(AP)—About 3,000 additional workers of the Chesapeake district of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad will be laid off by Jan. 1, the company announced today. Nearly 2,500 men have been laid off by the railroad in the last several months.

"Because of a decline in freight business greater than the usual seasonal slump, the number of employes at work now is considerably below what it was earlier this month," a company spokesman said.

He said the reduction will affect employes in shops, offices, and maintenance as well as train operators.

The company said a record coal year in 1947 accounted for the relatively high employment rate which preceded the layoffs. Chesapeake and Ohio is primarily a coal hauling railroad.
